

TO CONNECT WOOD WITH DYNAMITING

FREDERICK E. ATTEAUX

BOSTON, May 26.—Further evidence to show the connection of President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Co. with the conspiracy to "plant" dynamite in Lawrence to discredit textile strikers during the industrial troubles of 1912, was introduced by the prosecution at today's session of the trial of Mr. Wood, Frederick E. Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins. Atteaux and Collins, showing payments to Mr. Atteaux by the American Woolen Co. with Mr. Wood's approval have been presented and District Attorney Pelletier endeavored to show the relations of these payments with the alleged conspiracy.

Small Attendance

Interest in the case, so far as is indicated by the attendance of spectators is lessening, and when the proceedings were resumed very few except those whose presence was required were on hand.

The cross examination of Commissioner of public safety Cornelius J. Lynch of Lawrence, was continued by Daniel H. Coakley, counsel for Atteaux. At adjournment Friday Lynch was testifying regarding the stories of the dynamite "plant" told by Green to the authorities at Lawrence. Mr. Coakley read from a stenographic report of an examination of Green by the police a few days after the discovery of the dynamite and the witness said he recalled the statements recorded therein.

Treasurer Dwellley Recalled

Treasurer Dwellley of the American Woolen Co. was then recalled by the district attorney. The members of the board of directors of the company constituted the executive committee of which he was the clerk, he said. Meetings of the executive committee were held on Jan. 1 and Jan. 15, 1912.

The witness said that both the executive committee and the board of

SUPERIOR COURT CASES TRIED

Jury Waived Session Is Before Judge Jennings

The Civil Session Trying An Interesting Case

The jury waived session of the superior court opened in this city this morning with Judge Charles A. Jennings of Hyde Park on the bench. The session will be in Lowell two weeks.

The long list of cases, including a large number of divorce proceedings was read, and several motions were presented to the court. The first case to go to trial was that of Margaret Carmody of Lowell, vs. Thomas Carmody of Providence, R. I. In this case the plaintiff sues for the recovery of a bank account which is claimed to have been deposited in the name of the defendant by his brother, the late Jas. J. Carmody, former husband of the plaintiff. Mrs. Margaret Carmody is administratrix of the estate of her husband, and she claims the money involved in this case is a part of the estate of which she is the sole heir.

Mr. Carmody, the defendant, was the first witness called to the witness stand. He testified he is 32 years of age, and a resident of Providence, R. I., where he has been living for the past ten years. He said the late James J. Carmody, formerly of this city, was his brother. He said the latter died in this city on January 9, 1912, and before his death, he had a conversation with him at which time deceased told him he intended placing money in a savings bank of this city in his name. Later, said the witness, a few days before his brother died, he again saw him in Lowell, and in the course of a long talk he had with him, he told him to get the money he had placed in a local bank in his name.

Witness said the money was placed in trust for him to repay him for all he had done for other members of the family.

Messrs. Crowley & Toye, of this city appear for the plaintiff, while the defendant is being represented by Alvin G. Weeks of Fall River.

At the close of the case, the judge announced that he would find for the plaintiff in the full amount.

Other local cases scheduled to be tried before this court are as follows:

Noyes & Dewar, Co. vs. Wheelock; Seavey vs. Sexton et al.; Putnam vs. Nelson; Strogoff vs. McGowan et al.; Boott mills vs. Boston & Maine Co.; Spinner vs. Boston L. Prokes vs. Harakis; Walker pet'r. vs. Silverblatt; Farrell et al. pet'r. vs. Silverblatt; Peter Leonards & Sons vs. Riley; Simpson et al. vs. Slater; C. H. Hanson & Co. vs. McGrath; Russell vs. Ryan; Scott vs. Couzoules; Bessette vs. Laporte; St. Amand vs. Courtney; Belle Isle vs. Jean; Thibodeau vs. Aubrey.

Civil Session

The case of Mary A. Gair vs. Richard Gair and trustees, an action of tort, was taken up at the session of superior court this morning. William D. Regan appears for the plaintiff while the defendant was represented by William Hogan and St. Joseph Hennessy. The amount of the suit is $7000.

The plaintiff states that she had money deposited in four savings banks in the city of Lowell and had the books in her possession. She says that on or about the sixth of October, 1911, the defendant, who is her father, represented to her that in order that the interest thereon accrued should be credited to her it would be necessary for her to sign certain papers. She states the defendant further stated that he would take care of the matter and see that the interest was properly credited to her. The plaintiff, relying on the defendant's representation, signed the said papers, but instead of giving her due and proper credit for the interest it was an assignment of said books for the plaintiff to the defendant. The plaintiff states that the defendant secured the money and refused to pay over to her the said sums.

The plaintiff further states that on several occasions she gave her father sums of money, he saying he would deposit them in her name and behalf, and the plaintiff states that he did not act in her behalf, but did fraudulently appropriate them to his own use and purpose.

Mary A. Gair was on the stand the greater part of the morning and she identified the signatures on some of the assignments, but stated that she did not know she was assigning the bank books to her father. She admitted that

INCREASE IN THE TAX RATE

What It Looks Like Up to Date

Unless We Get Glad News From the State

It looks as if this city was due for another increase in tax rate. Unless our share of the state tax should be considerably less than last year, there will be an increase of more than 50 cents in Lowell's tax rate for 1913. The assessors have not yet received the figures on Lowell's state tax for 1912. The assessors have received the figures on the county tax and it shows an increase over last year.

The county tax for 1912 was $75,505.69, and for 1913, $128,180.45, and increase of $52,674.76. The city's obligations with regard to appropriations are larger this year than last year. Last year the city appropriated $1,410,100. This year the sum of $1,435,500 was appropriated, an increase for 1913 of $25,400. This increase added to the increase as shown by the county tax figures, makes a total increase in the tax levy, thus far, of $46,674.82, with the state tax still to be heard from.

Every $3470 increase in the amount to be levied represents an increase of ten cents in the tax rate and the increase in appropriations and county tax in 1913, as compared with 1912, represents an increase in the tax rate of about 57 cents.

JOHN COTTER WAS UNLUCKY

Met With Two Accidents In Two Months

Insurance Company Will Have to Settle

The second arbitration hearing under the workmen's compensation act was held in the old councilmanic chamber at city hall this forenoon. The petitioner was John Cotter of 56 Franklin street. He was represented by Lawyer Murphy. Mr. David T. Dickinson represented the state industrial accident board, and G. H. Perkins as arbitrator, represented the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co.

The Saco-Lowell shops was the insurer. While engaged in operating a saw at the Saco-Lowell shops the petitioner, John Cotter, got his hand caught in the saw and two fingers were badly injured. He was removed to the Lowell hospital and received a three weeks' treatment there.

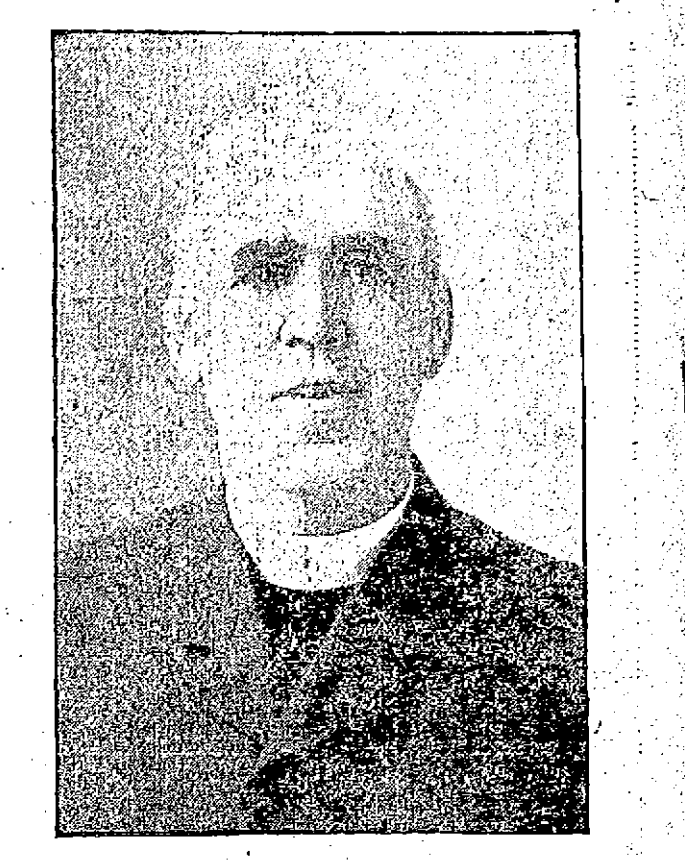

It was on Feb. 14 that Mr. Cotter was injured at the Saco-Lowell shops and on March 12 he went to the plant of the Lowell Gas Light company to visit a friend. While ascending a ladder to the spot where his friend was working he slipped and fell. On this occasion he was removed to St. John's hospital and was unconscious for about two days. The report of the accident at the Lowell Gas Light company's plant reached the insurance company and the story had it that Cotter had fractured his skull. This forenoon, however, Mr. Cotter denied the soft impeachment. He said he was knocked out for several hours but he did not sustain a fractured skull.

The petitioner was receiving $9.18 a week at the time of the accident and the arbitrators today agreed to allow him half wages, or $4.59 a week, from 12 days after the date of the first accident up to today, and partial compensation up to such time as he shall find employment. Mr. Cotter said he thought he would be able to obtain employment with the Lowell Gas Light Co. next week as a laborer.

In reply to questions by Dr. Dickinson, Mr. Cotter said the oiling job would pay about $13.50 a week, with time and a half for overtime, but that he would prefer the job of running a saw at the Saco-Lowell shops because, he said, the work was cleaner. Mr. Dickinson allowed that four or five dollars a week ought to represent a whole lot of dirt and he could not understand how the petitioner would prefer a job paying $9.18 a week to a job that paid $13.50 a week. The fact remains, however, that the petitioner is not able to take the "saw job" and will not be able to operate the saw for some time, but he told the arbitrators that he felt pretty sure of a job with the Gas Light company.

she made the assignments in the different banks and in the presence of witnesses. She also stated that during the month of January she gave her father money at different periods, the whole amounting to about five hundred dollars, to deposit in savings banks, and which he did not do.

CORPUS CHRISTI FEAST OBSERVED WITH POMP

Rev. Monsignor O'Brien, P. R.

Corpus Christi, the special feast of the Blessed Sacrament, is usually celebrated by the Catholic church throughout the world with an unusually elaborate ritual which generally includes a procession. The Catholic churches of Lowell so observed the solemnity of the feast yesterday, and although the weather threatened to interfere with the arrangements of the program as planned it was carried out in every particular. The celebrations in the various churches were attended by great crowds.

Grand Turnout at St. Patrick's

The beautiful procession which has been a feature of the annual celebration of Corpus Christi at St. Patrick's church for many years was held yesterday with a perfection of detail and wealth of Christian symbolism which made it unusually impressive. Because of the threatening nature of the weather in the morning it was feared that the outdoor part of the procession would have to be abandoned, but a short time before the scheduled time for starting the sun came out with great brilliancy and the weather conditions throughout the celebration were unique.

The Corpus-Christi observance commenced with the celebration of solemn high mass at 11 o'clock at which Rev. William Burke of New York city, a nephew of Monsignor O'Brien was the celebrant. Fr. Burke was prepared for the priesthood at Dunwoodie seminary, Dunwoodie, N. Y. and was ordained a week ago at St. Patrick's cathedral, N. Y. by Cardinal Farley. Rev. Joseph F. Curran was deacon and Rev. John J. Kerrigan was sub-deacon. The music was special to the occasion and the sermon was preached by Rev. Timothy Callahan who dwelt on the dignity of the priesthood with special reference to the newly ordained priest, Rev. Fr. Burke. He also referred to the institution of the Blessed Sacrament by Jesus Christ on the eve of the last supper and referred to it as the crowning proof of Christ's solicitude for humanity and the great central principle of our Catholic faith.

Rev. Monsignor O'Brien reviewed the procession and then marched in line to the altar on the church grounds where he assisted at benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Solemn vespers were intoned at 2:30 o'clock, at the conclusion of which Fr. Burke, bearing the gold monstrance containing the sacred host, attended by Frs. Curran and Kerrigan, and followed by the sanctuary choir, entered the grounds of Notre Dame academy. Here the various divisions of the procession were drawn up in order and as the first divisions took up their position the other sections fell into place with a perfect order and dignity. At this moment the chimes of the church rang out in a solemn peal and from that time they played almost without interruption until the conclusion of the ceremony. The procession was met at the gates of the academy by the Cadet band which played "Graces From Jesus Heart Are Flowing," alternating with the caroler of the church, Joseph Johnson.

After benediction the line of the now fully formed procession passed into Fenwick street, and after counter-marching entered the church yard. At this moment the chimes of the church rang out in a solemn peal and from that time they played almost without interruption until the conclusion of the ceremony. The procession was met at the gates of the academy by the Cadet band which played "Graces From Jesus Heart Are Flowing," alternating with the caroler of the church, Joseph Johnson.

The thousands who thronged the neighboring streets and every available vantage point then saw a spectacle of rare beauty. At the head of the procession walked the professional chorister, Edward J. Flannery, Cross Bearers, Daniel Powers carrying the large zodiacal processional cross, and the surmounted acolytes, Peter Gill and Fred Kelly. Following them came the angel of the procession leading a child clad in white and a number of the older girls of

ANNUAL FIELD DAY OF HIGH SCHOOL REGIMENT AT SPAULDING PARK TODAY

Lieut. Thomas Doyle, Military Instructor; Miss Margaret Teague, Teacher of Calisthenics; Col. George Wilkins.

The high school regiment assembled at 12:30 this afternoon at the armory in the high school annex, fitted out in their dress parade regalia of white duck trousers, white gloves, brown khaki leggings and the blue military coats and caps which are worn on all the drill days throughout the school year, to go through the preliminaries necessary before marching to Spaulding park for their annual field day exercises, the closing feature of the military portion of the high school curriculum. The girl battalions, who hold their calisthenic exercises in conjunction with the boys' drill every year, did not tramp to the park but made their appearance on the grounds in their customary white dresses. The deep blue uniforms of the girl officers with their gold chevrons upon their sleeves made a very striking picture as the sun, striking diagonally across the field, threw them into relief against the white background of their battalions.

March to Park

The officers of the eight companies, which compose the boys' regiment, quickly formed their commands into line on Paige street, directly in front of the armory, and at the word of command from Colonel Wilkins, the ranking officer, the march was begun to the park, the smallest company, Company H, with Captain Vigeant in command, in the van.

The various regimental officers were all mounted, and as the companies swung through their various evolutions along their route of march cantered along the entire line, closing up the ranks and issuing orders to the company captain. The entire line of march was thronged with the friends of the school boy soldiers and the company applicants were everywhere in evidence.

cast before the feet of the priest who bore the host. In this way the walks were carpeted with flowers which many gathered as souvenirs after the procession had passed. After the flower girls came the canopy bearers, James J. Brown, Charles Griffin, John Adams and John McDermott, who bore aloft a rich canopy of scarlet and gold. Beneath the canopy marched Fr. Burke, bearing the monstrance, accompanied by Fr. Curran and Kerrian. After the officiating clergymen marched a guard of honor from the Holy Name society and the Young Men's League.

When the procession had reached the monument, where a temporary altar had been erected, the assembled multitude knelt, and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given. The church choir was assembled to the left of the altar and the choir of the members of St. Cecilia's choir, the sanctuary choir and all the assembled people sang "Hail Mary," "Jesus, My Lord, My God, My All," and many other hymns, while the chimps tolled out a grand accompaniment. After the open air benediction, the procession marched to the church where benediction was again given.

Whether regarded as spectacular merely, or in its deep religious sense, the procession was a sight of rare and symbolic beauty that will not be easily forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to witness it and to be stirred by its grandeur.

St. Peter's Church

At St. Peter's church yesterday the solemnity of feast was elaborately observed. Rev. Fr. Hoffmann, pastor, presided at the mass, Rev. Dr. Kelsch, deacon, Rev. Fr. Mullin, sub-deacon. There was a procession after mass in which the following societies appeared:

Concerning Methods OF CUTTING PRICES On Cigars and Cigarettes AT THE RIKER-JAYNES STORES

The question at issue is:

Shall Riker-Jaynes Stores be forbidden to sell you a certain popular brand of 25c cigarettes for 16c and save you 4c in cash—when another firm sells you the same package for 20c and gives you two coupons advertised to be worth 2c each in redemption value?

It is mainly the difference between Direct and Indirect methods and we chose the direct. Our way of doing business has always been the plain straight-forward-direct way as being most satisfactory to our customers and to ourselves.

When the question of prices has arisen we have always said we will not be undersold—whether the cut in prices be direct or indirect, and we still continue to pursue the same policy.

When indirect cuts in prices on cigarettes and cigars were instituted we took the other method and made direct cuts on these articles. We have chosen to meet indirect underselling of competitors with these direct cut prices as being an advantage both to our customers and to ourselves. We have left 2c more in your pocket instead of handing you a coupon advertised as to be worth 2c in redemption value.

By so doing we have apparently merited the wrath of the powers that be. The American Tobacco Company at present refuses to sell their product to the Riker-Jaynes Stores and have publicly announced the withdrawal of their former terms with us.

The difficult point to understand is the seeming inconsistency of the American Tobacco Company in condoning an indirect cut in prices by the United Cigar Stores Company, and condemning the same act when done openly and frankly in a direct way by a competitor of the United Cigar Stores Company.

The Riker-Jaynes stores take this occasion to inform their patrons that their lifelong policy still holds. That we prefer to keep faith with our public at the risk of losing our jobbers' discounts from the American Tobacco Company.

That our schedule of reduced prices on Cigarettes and Cigars is still in force.

CURED TERRIBLE HUMOR ON FACE

Could Not Go On Street Without Veil, Tells What Remedial Did For Her

Philadelphia, Dec. 5, 1912.—In December, 1905, my face became sore. I tried everything that was recommended, and my face got worse instead of better. I spent over $100 and got no benefit. The face and nose were very red and the eruption had the appearance of small boils, which itched very terribly. I cannot tell you how terrible my face looked—all I can say is, it was dreadful, and I suffered beyond description.

I have not gone on the street any time since 1905 without a veil, until now. Just four months ago a friend persuaded me to give Remedial a trial. I have used three cakes of Remedial Soap and less than a jar of Remedial Ointment, and my face is perfectly free from any eruption, and my skin is as clear and clean as any child's. It is about four weeks since the last pimple disappeared. (Signed) Mrs. M. J. Bateman, 1255 Viola street.

Practically every druggist sells Remedial Ointment (50c and $1.00) and Remedial Soap (25c) but if you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, it will cost you nothing to try this soothing, healing preparation. Just send to Dept. 26-S, Remedial, Baltimore, Md., for a free sample of each.

Ergo previous to the benediction. This procession constituted the closing of the Forty Hours' devotion.

In the evening the feast of Corpus Christi was observed with a procession and solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament with Rev. Lawrence, R. Tighe, O. M. I., as celebrant, Rev. Fr. McQuaid, O. M. I., as deacon, and Rev. Fr. Fox, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., was master of ceremonies. In the evening, too, the procession was confined to the church and was participated in by the societies mentioned above. It was a most imposing ceremony and the congregation was very large. The service was closed with the singing of hymns by the entire congregation.

Sacred Heart Church

The large congregation at the half past eight o'clock mass yesterday morning at the church of the Sacred Heart witnessed an impressive scene when nearly two hundred boys and girls approached the altar rail to receive holy communion for the first time. Rev. Fr. Wade Smith, O. M. I., the pastor, celebrated the mass and gave holy communion.

The children took places reserved for them in the center of the church. The little girls wore white dresses, white veils and wreaths, and the boys dark colored trousers and white blouses, with white silk bows on their sleeves and white gloves. The singing during the mass was by the children themselves and they rendered several hymns in a beautiful manner, including "Hail Mary," "The Lord's Prayer," "My Jesus from the Cross," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," the latter just before communion.

Following the mass a communion breakfast was served the children, including the altar boys, in a hall in the school building, and this proved a joyous event. The feast was prepared by the Holy Trinity sodality, to whom the members of the parish made generous donations. The children were prepared for their first communion by the Sisters of St. Mary, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I. Great commendation is due all for their earnest efforts and the success which attended them.

The parish mass at 11 o'clock was celebrated by a recently ordained priest, Rev. Charles Webb of Tewksbury, and he was assisted by Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. P. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. Throughout the entire service the Blessed Sacrament was exposed on the altar. To the altar a beautiful appearance was lent by numerous lighted candles, together with cut flowers and potted plants. The procession after the mass was participated in by the clergy, Rev. Fr. Webb carrying the sacred host under the canopy of white silk, the altar boys and the sanctuary choir. As the procession moved through the aisles of the church the choir rendered "Pange Lingua."

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock the boys and girls who had made their first communion in the morning gathered in the church where they were addressed by Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I., their pastor, and were received into their sodalities. In the evening the services opened at half past six and at this ceremony also the children occupied a place set aside for them in the center aisle. The congregation and choir rendered hymns, and there was the recitation of the rosary. There was a procession at this service, in which the children took part, singing hymns. The service was closed by solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the celebrant of which was Rev. Bernard J. Fletcher, O. M. I., and he was assisted by Rev. Fr. Flynn and Wood, O. M. I., as deacon and sub-deacon.

At St. Michael's

A beautiful ceremony in observance of Corpus Christi took place yesterday at St. Michael's church at the solemn high mass at 10:15 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Shaw, the pastor, was the celebrant of the mass with Rev. Fr. Murphy as deacon and Rev. Fr. Mullin as sub-deacon. Following the mass there was a procession of the clergy, altar boys, sanctuary choir and junior organizations of the parish, the sacred host being carried under the silk canopy. The procession made its way about the aisles of the church while the sanctuary choir sang special hymns and the church choir rendered "Pange Lingua." There was an elaborate musical program especially prepared for the occasion.

St. Louis Church

The feast of Corpus Christi was observed in a fitting manner at St. Louis' parish yesterday afternoon, when a procession of the blessed sacrament was held through some of the principal streets of West Centralville. The event was scheduled to take place immediately after high mass at 10:30 o'clock, but on account of the threatening weather it was postponed until 1:30 in the afternoon, but just at that time a shower visited the city, and the procession did not start until 3 o'clock. Nevertheless the ceremony was held and proved to be the most successful in the history of the parish.

Practically every residence or home along the route of the procession was beautifully decorated with bunting of the national colors, and in many instances miniature altars were erected and pictures of the Sacred Heart were hung on the exterior of the houses. The district presented a very gay appearance, and the gatherings of people along the route were very large, many coming from other sections of the city.

A temporary repository was constructed on the veranda of the home of Mr. J. Anselm Fillion in Hildreth street, and this was a mass of choice cut flowers. The altar was surmounted by a large sign bearing the inscription "Honneur a Jesus Hostie," while at the foot of the altar was a large picture of "The Last Supper of Our Lord." Solemn benediction was held at this pretty spot. Rev. L. C. Bedard officiating, his assistants being Rev. J. N. Jacques and Rev. R. A. Fortier.

The procession started from the church in Bolivar street at 2 o'clock sharp and the route was as follows: West 58th street, Lakeview avenue, Fisher, Essex and Hildreth streets to the repository. After benediction the blue of march was resumed and the procession wound its way down Hildreth, Bunnell, Victor, Beaulieu and West 58th street, and into the church, where benediction was again held. Rev. R. A. Fortier officiating.

The formation of the procession was as follows: Marcel Doussal, marshal; cross, American and French flags, altar boys, school boys and school girls, accompanied by the nuns, Children of Mary sodality with banners, young women of the parish, St. Anne's sodality with banner, St. Anne's sodality, Third Order of St. Francis, Sacred Heart League, church choir, Garde Francisme, canopy with Blessed Sacrament and surrounded by Garde Jacques-Cartier and Garde d'Honneur. A. G. Cadels and Garde Sacre Cour.

The marshals assistants were Telephore Fauthier, Joseph A. Desrosiers, Charles Dupuis and Edouard Desrosiers. The canopy bearers were John H. Beaulieu, J. A. Fols, Joseph Desrosiers and Hercule A. Dupin. The host was carried by Rev. L. C. Bedard one way, and by Rev. R. A. Fortier the other way, while the pastor, Rev. J. N. Jacques acted as master of ceremonies.

The school girls as well as the members of the Children of Mary sodality were attired in white, and wore veils, while the boys wore dark suits. The members of the Third Order of St. Francis wore in their full regalia, and this greatly added to the beauty of the demonstration.

Notre Dame de Lourdes

Solemn high mass was celebrated at Notre Dame de Lourdes church in Branch street at 10:30 o'clock, the celebrant being Rev. Leon Lamotte, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Bro. McCallough, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. Bro. Anthony, O. M. I., as sub-deacon.

The choir under the direction of Mr. H. A. Rieffel rendered appropriate music during the service. Miss Bella Lavigne presiding at the organ. At the close of the mass a procession of the blessed sacrament was held around the church and into East Pine street, where solemn benediction was held at the temporary repository which was erected for the occasion.

The host was carried by Rev. Fr. Lamotte, who also officiated at benediction. All the sodalities of the parish as well as every one attending high mass took part in the procession which was very successful.

James H. Horsfall, who is serving a six months' sentence in the Lowell jail, petitioned for the remission of the remainder of his sentence, he having served about three months. He was sentenced for recklessly operating an automobile and it was to the Middlesex county commissioners that he sent his petition. The commissioners did not have the authority to act in the matter and they referred it to Probation Officer Ramsay. It is understood that the petition has been adversely reported upon.

Kills the Germ That Makes the Trouble

The deadly dandruff germ causes 70 per cent. of baldness. SULPHOLAC destroys this germ, overcomes dandruff, eczema, itching, scalp, dry and feverish conditions that stop all hair growth.

SULPHOLAC combines the benefits of sulphur, with a highly prized germ destroyer. These ingredients make it a skin remedy of extraordinary value.

Easy to work into the scalp, readily taken up by the skin, this velvety-smooth cream gets to the seat of the trouble. Even in stubborn, aggravated cases, SULPHOLAC brings the scalp back to health, keeps it clean, soft and moist, stops falling hair and stimulates a good strong growth.

CITY AUDITOR AND BILLS

According to the Provisions of Act Just Passed

All the Bills Are Subject to His Approval

Under an act approved a few days ago relative to the approval of bills against cities and towns the city auditor has greater responsibility put upon him and when it comes right down to authority he has a little something on the municipal council. The act reads that all accounts rendered to or kept in the department of any city shall be subject to the inspection of the auditor and he may require any person presenting for settlement on account or claim against the city to make oath before him, in such form as he may prescribe, as to the accuracy of such account or claim. The act says that the willful making of a false oath shall be perjury, and punishable as such.

The Auditor's Authority
The auditor shall approve the payment of all bills or pay-rolls of all departments before same are paid by the treasurer, and may disallow and refuse to approve for payment, in whole or in part, any claim on the ground that it is fraudulent, unlawful or excessive. In a case of this kind the auditor will file with the treasurer a statement of the reason for the refusal, and the treasurer shall not pay any claim or bill so disallowed.

CUT HIGH LIVING COST

The Bureau of Fisheries Has Plan

WASHINGTON, May 25.—Dipping one hand into the Atlantic and the other in the Pacific oceans to transfer food fish, the United States government it was announced today proposed to undertake practical measures to cut down the high cost of living. Lobsters from the Atlantic will be shipped across the continent to Pacific waters in the hope that they may multiply while en route, and be taken from the waters of the Pacific and cultivated in the waters of the rockbound coast of New England. The interchange will be under the direction of the bureau of fisheries.

FLIER DROPS INTO BAY

Aviator Lost Control of His Biplane

PROVIDENCE, May 24.—Harry M. Jones, a local aviator, not only thrilled the crowd at the Rocky Point ball grounds yesterday afternoon, but also chilled himself, when he struck an air pocket, partially lost control of his biplane and glided into Narragansett bay. Motor boats hurried to where Jones clung to his floating aeroplane, and rescued him before the air craft began to sink. After he had been placed on shore, wet and somewhat scared, but otherwise unhurt, the biplane was towed ashore.

MORE ARSON TRUST CASES

Men Charged With Having Stores Set on Fire

FORT WAYNE, Ind., May 25.—Another chapter in the so-called "arson trust" in the central west was started here today when David and Benjamin Rosenberg and Benjamin Franklin were placed on trial before Judge Egerman in the circuit court, charged with arson. The men are alleged to have had their clothing store here set on fire that they might collect insurance money on their stock.

The three were indicted by the Allen county grand jury and the two Rosenbergs have been in jail several months awaiting trial. Franklin has been out on bond.

Franklin is said by the officials to have confessed at one time and then repudiated it.

Ben Fink, the confessed "torch" of the trust, is said to have admitted that he set fire to the Fort Wayne store owned by the Rosenbergs and Franklin and that Franklin paid him for the job. He is to be one of the state's witnesses here. The trial, it is expected, will continue at least a week.

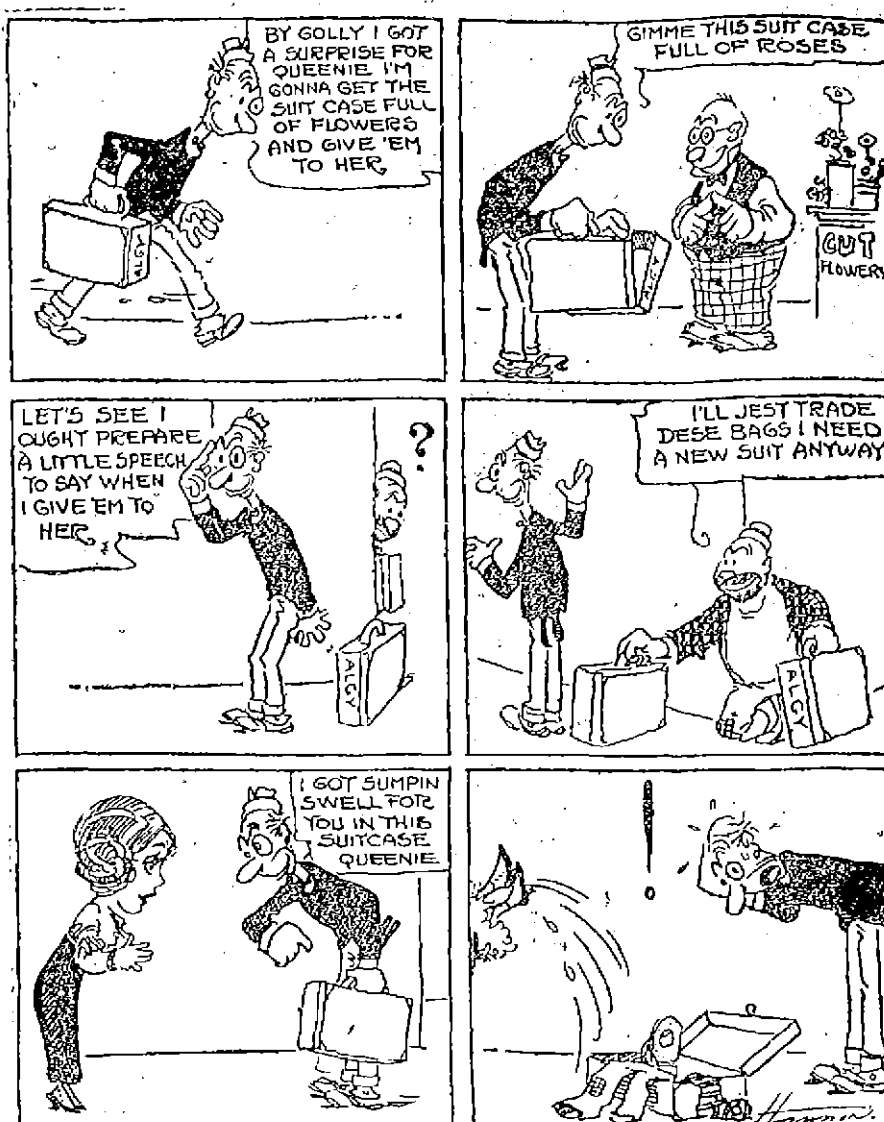

MARRIED 50 YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. William Sykes Observed Golden Wedding—Four Generations Represented

A pretty family reunion took place Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Sykes, 7 Chase street, the occasion being the 50th anniversary of the marriage of the venerable couple. The affair was largely attended, there being four generations represented at the festivities as follows: Mrs. William Sykes, Mrs. James McGowan, Mrs. Joseph Wilkinson and Mrs. Rhoda Wilkinson. There were also many guests from Lowell and Lawrence.

Rev. N. W. Matthews was present and he congratulated the happy couple on the rare event and wished long life and prosperity. A social hour was spent and a dainty luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Sykes were married in Halifax, England, May 25, 1863. During their married life, four children were born to them, of which one, Mrs. James McGowan, of Lynn, is living. They came to this country 32 years ago and have made Lowell their home almost continuously since that time.

SERVICES AT BILLERICA

Memorial Sunday Fitly Observed

A union Memorial Sunday service was held yesterday at the Unitarian church at Billerica Centre. The church was brilliantly decorated with American flags and was crowded to the doors by the congregation that gathered to mark recurrence of Memorial day. Among those present were: Eight veterans of the Civil war, Sons of Veterans, Ladies of the G. A. R., and a delegation from the Mitchell Military Boys' school. These guests filled the body of the church for some distance back from the pulpit, while the congregation filled the remaining pews.

The service was conducted by Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge and was assisted by Rev. Mr. Harlow of the Baptist church and Rev. J. Harold Dale of the Congregational church. Special music was furnished by members of the three choirs.

After the prayer which was offered by Rev. Mr. Harlow a very appropriate sermon was delivered by Rev. Lyman V. Rutledge, who took for his text, "Religion Exalteth a Nation." A pleasant feature of the service was the presentation of a purse of gold by G. A. R. ladies to Dr. Hosmer, a veteran of the Civil war, who enlisted in 1861 and who on yesterday celebrated his 75th birthday. The presentation was made by Miss Sarah L. Murphy, who in fitting words told of their respect and love for him.

The services closed by all singing, "America," after which all stood while the veterans, escorted by the Ladies of the G. A. R. and Sons of Veterans, marched out.

A silk flag was then presented to the Sunday school at the Unitarian church by the Ladies of the G. A. R., who afterwards proceeded to the North Billerica church and presented a similar gift to the school connected with that society.

St. Andrew's Church
The feast of Corpus Christi was fitly observed at St. Andrew's church yesterday. At 10 o'clock a solemn high mass was celebrated by Rev. James C. McCarthy, O. M. I., of Lowell, assisted by Rev. E. J. Cornell, O. M. I.

Special music was furnished by the choir under the direction of Mr. Charles Fairbrother. Miss Etta Hinz presided at the organ.

The young people of the parish took part in a pretty procession at the morning service, when a large number of them formed and marched around the church.

Special Sunday school exercises were held yesterday afternoon on the grounds adjacent to the church. The

A LITTLE NONSENSE

THOSE WICKED CITIES.

Mrs. Hayloft—Say, Stas: they must be awful gamblers over there in the city.
Mr. Hayloft—Why, so Miranda?
Mrs. Hayloft—Why, right here, even among the weddin' notices it says "No cards."

SHE'S HAD HER TURN.

"That's a perfectly beautiful engagement ring Jack gave you."
"I didn't know I had shown it to you."
"You didn't."

SECOND BASEMAN.

"My son, don't you know it's very wicked to play ball on the Sabbath? I shall have to inform your father. Where is he, young man?"
"Over there, playing second base."

INTERESTING.

"Jack Squeeze told me a long story last night."
"Is he an interesting story teller?"
"I should say so; he held his audience from start to finish."

REPARTEE.

Keeping the Body in Repair

Nature intended that the body should do its own repairing—and it would do so were it not for the fact that most of us live other than a natural life.

Nature didn't intend that we should wear corsets, tight collars or shoes, nor live in badly ventilated and draughty houses, nor eat and drink some of the things that we do, nor ride in street cars when we should walk.

The consequence is that the body when it gets out of order must look for outside help to make the necessary repairs.

MAN DROPPED DEAD CAPT. GEO. E. WORTHEN

Fell on Central St. and Observes His 70th Birthday Died Instantly day Today

F. Ayers, aged about 45 years, dropped dead in Central street Saturday afternoon. Dr. Robert L. Jones, who has an office near the spot, where the man dropped, was summoned in haste, but life was extinct. The ambulance was summoned and the body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

Positively Identified
A party called later at the funeral parlors and identified the body as that of Fred Ayers, car inspector, 673 Gorman street. He is survived by one brother, William of Natick. Deceased was a member of William North lodge of Masons.

MASS. TRUANT OFFICERS

Met at North Chelmsford School Today

The Massachusetts truant officers held their annual meeting at the Middlesex County Training school in North Chelmsford Saturday. About seventy-five members representing cities and towns throughout the state were present and the meeting was very successful.

In the absence of President Doyle, Vice President William F. Thornton of this city presided. The meeting was called to order at about 11 o'clock and after transacting a little routine business, Mr. John H. Westfall of Boston gave a talk on "The Penitentiary of Truant Officers." The address was very much appreciated and the topic was discussed by all present.

Other topics were, "Should Minors Under Sixteen Years of Age That Are Brought Before the Courts as Delinquents and Placed on Probation Be Under the Jurisdiction of the Truant Officer Instead of the Probation Officer," by Timothy Kenney of Boston, "Should Evening Vocation Be Maintained for Boys Between the Ages of Fourteen and Sixteen That Are Obligated to Go to Work When They Reach the Age of Fourteen," Superintendent of Schools Joseph Edgerly of Fitchburg. The officers elected were: President, Thomas W. Doyle; vice president, William F. Thornton of Lowell; secretary and treasurer, Michael J. English of Worcester. Committees were also chosen to serve for the coming year.

A lunch was served in the Richardson hall at one o'clock, after which a pleasing entertainment was furnished by the Middlesex County Training School band.

Chief Marshal George E. Worthen is truly a man worthy to be placed in charge of a Memorial day demonstration if one is aware of his remarkable war record. Today, Mr. Worthen, who was born in Pawtucket street, Lowell, on May 26, 1843, is observing his 70th birthday.

This veteran enlisted in the 12th New Hampshire regiment on August 14, 1862, and engaged in the most active campaigns of the war. He was in the battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Wapping Heights, Front Royal, Swift Creek, Brewery's Bluff, Cold Harbor, Waltham Junction. He took part in the 56 days' siege of Vicksburg, was at the capture of Fort Harrison and his regiment was the first to enter the city of Richmond on April 3, 1865.

Though always in the thick of the fight, Captain Worthen was never once seriously wounded. He received his discharge on June 21, 1865, but not as a private, in which capacity he enlisted. During his term of service, he was promoted from the rank to the office of first lieutenant, commanding Company G of the 12th, knowing that his bravery and energy were not unwarranted.

ADDRESS BY LOWELL MAN

P. J. Reynolds Spoke at Boston College

Mr. Patrick J. Reynolds, master of the Riverside school of this city, delivered the concluding address of the special lecture course for professional men at the Graduate school of Boston college Friday night, taking as his theme, "The Origin of Private Property," one of the most important theses in Ethics, bearing directly on social life of today and closely related to the question of opposing socialism.

This lecture course has been instituted primarily for bona fide graduates of the connected colleges and universities who are engaged in professional pursuits and who are desirous of continuing to enjoy and benefit by progress along educational lines. In this course are considered in a practical way by means of lectures, the vital questions which daily confront the citizens of this country and which will ultimately fall to the lot of the younger generation to solve in later years. The course is of great interest and a great many have already taken advantage of it, going to Boston to attend the circles. Among them are graduates of Holy Cross, of which Mr. Reynolds is a graduate, class of 1912; Boston college, Harvard, Dartmouth and other New England colleges.

The thesis which Mr. Reynolds discussed is one of the most weighty and practical in the course. For it bears directly upon one of the most widely debated questions of the day. This thesis is a fundamental of social life as holding at the present time in which private citizens own property as such and it is a direct refutation of the arguments advanced by the socialists and communists for public or municipal ownership. Mr. Reynolds dealt with his topic from every view point, developing his arguments in the clearest and most easily comprehensible form and was highly commended for his address.

This course is held under the direction of Rev. Father Gasson, S. J., president of Boston college, and Rev. Matthew Fortier, S. J.

LOWELL MEN ATTEND CONVENTION

Of American Federation of Musicians at Toronto, Ont.—They Served on Committees

Messrs. Charles A. Delaronde and Joseph H. Hibbard, two well known musicians of this city, have returned from the annual convention of the American Federation of Musicians, which was held at Toronto, Ont., and where they went as delegates for the local Musicians' association.

President Joseph N. Weber of New York was unanimously elected to that office for the 13th consecutive term. The Lowell men were honored by being appointed on important committees. Mr. Delaronde was appointed on the committee on credentials and at the close of the convention he was also chosen a member of the committee to draw up resolutions of thanks for the local of Toronto. Mr. Hibbard was on the president's report committee.

FOOD

You'll promptly discover the reason why tens of thousands now eat a regular morning dish of Grape-Nuts and cream as the cereal part of breakfast.

White bread and many of the prepared breakfast foods are made of grains from which three-fourths of the most valuable brain-building and health-sustaining elements has been removed.

Grape-Nuts food is made of whole wheat and malted barley, milled under scientific supervision and made into crisp, golden granules, rich in well-balanced nourishment.

At this time of year a dish of Grape-Nuts and cream, as the cereal part of a meal, is especially valuable in meeting the requirements of body and brain.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Whether one regards the imminent tariff revision in its essence as being ultimately advantageous to the prosperity of the country, or the contrary, the fact that there is a difference of opinion concerning it does not constitute a logical argument for its condemnation. We are well acquainted with the discontent that arises because of some privilege withdrawn. The school teacher who decides that in the best interests of education he must cancel some existing unnecessary privilege which the pupils had enjoyed until it seemed their inalienable right, usually meets with a great deal of harsh criticism from those affected. When we add to that the abuse he is liable to get from the parents, brothers, sisters, friends, and sympathizers of the pupils, it may be readily perceived that a storm of protest might arise which, however, would have no direct bearing on the right or wrong of the principle involved.

This situation is duplicated partly in present tariff conditions. Manufacturers have enjoyed certain privileges which were a benefit to them as a unit but were detrimental to the prosperity of the country. When the people acting through the government, thought that this abuse had gone far enough, and resolved to put an end to it, those who had enjoyed the right cried out against the measure which would end tariff abuses, and behold! many hearing these cries of complaint say "Business does not want it," and argue from the prophecies of those who selfishly denounce it that it can bring nothing but injury to the country. These selfish wailings do not necessarily prove anything as to the danger of the proposed law.

In his recent speech in the house, Speaker Clark gave utterance to a few vital truths with regard to difference of opinion. He spoke of this difference as being voiced by republican politicians rather than by manufacturers, but probably the gentlemen who gave utterance to them meant to convey the protest of business interests as they understood them, or pretended to understand them. In the speaker's words, "Now the doctors disagree on the republican side of the house. The gentleman from Wisconsin says it is a protective measure. The gentleman from Pennsylvania and the gentleman from Wyoming have made 200 speeches apiece in the discussion of this bill to demonstrate that it is a free-trade measure. When doctors disagree, what are we going to do? We stand for a tariff for revenue only. That is the democratic doctrine, and always will be the democratic doctrine until it is fully realized and accomplished."

A little later on he drove home a telling thrust as to the fallacy of basing tariff considerations on difference of opinion. In his own words, "The gentleman from New York—Mr. Payne—says that some people do not like some things in this bill. Of course they do not. I would like to get him on the witness stand and swear him, and cross-examine him as to whether he liked his own bill or not in every particular."

PROTECT THE IMMIGRANT

The meeting of the North American civic league on Friday night brought out some interesting truths bearing on immigrant problems, not the least important of which is the great amount of good that the people of America might do in seeing that the interests of foreigners coming to our shores are properly respected. President Brewer of the league stated that fully 80 per cent. of them fall into the hands of rascals who speak their language, and are robbed or otherwise abused. Because of their ignorance of our language and customs they are practically helpless, and the treatment they receive makes them join the ranks of the discontented, and prepares them for the wiles of the socialist and extreme labor agitator.

The helpless condition of the average immigrant ought to be a sufficient strong argument for an improvement in this respect, but there is also a selfish reason why protection given the immigrant at his arrival would bear a fruitful harvest of good. Any hardship which foreigners suffer when they land on our shores will be attributed by them to laxity in our laws, or to our unsympathetic attitude towards them. It is not right that they should so regard it, but if the order of things were reversed and Americans sought liberty and happiness on distant shores, our viewpoint would not be very different. This discontent will have an injurious effect on the character of the foreigner, and as the immigrants of today are to be the fathers of the citizens of tomorrow, the indifference which would let them suffer alone is shortsighted and unwise. Make them love and respect America, and they will return our kindness a hundredfold in patriotic devotion.

If the attendance at the civic league meeting could be taken as an estimate of Lowell interest in our immigrant population, we are guilty of the most profound indifference. Probably weather conditions had something to do with the small number present, and it would be hardly fair to ascribe the absence of those who were invited by the superintendent of schools, to any other than accidental reasons. We are not at all slow in expressing what we expect from foreigners but it must not be forgotten that we, too, owe them duties in the name of our common humanity, and in the proper understanding of our own best interests. The North American civic league has already done splendid work elsewhere and they stand ready to do the same work here with the co-operation of the public and particularly the school department. There is absolutely no reason why they should not receive this co-operation in its fullest measure.

CHILD LABOR

The country-wide agitation which was brought about by the employment of children in the canning industries of New York and the tenement industries of Massachusetts, has resulted in new prohibitive laws in many states, and as a result of the investigations of child labor committees, public opinion in Massachusetts has crystallized, and a new uniform child labor bill has now been reported in our legislature by the committee on social welfare.

This child labor bill covers many phases of the evil. It prohibits the employment of children in dangerous occupations; it prohibits night work for those under sixteen; it extends to large cities the Boston system of licensing street traders; it forbids the employment of those under fourteen in any regular commercial industry. It aims to meet the loopholes by which children have been employed despite the present prohibitive legislation. It will prevent the employment of children in the mills as "learners"; it will prevent the sending of work from the factory to the home; it will shorten the working hours of children who are old enough to work in the mills.

The proposed law seems a comprehensive one, and the members of the legislature will have a chance to show if the conservation of life and health are as important in the eyes of the legislators of this state as they are in the eyes of the many which have recently adopted like laws. If the health of the child is affected the man will not be very useful, and the arguments against child labor are as strongly economic as they are humanitarian. If we cannot be prosperous without crippling and stunting the lives of the young, we don't deserve to be prosperous.

THE TWO STATUES

While peace celebrations and mutual felicitations over the 100 years of peace between America and England are commendable, some of the suggestions offered as a means of celebrating this peace in the past, and ensuring its continuance for the future, savor of sickly sentimentality, and will not find a ready acceptance in the hearts of the people of America—or for that matter in the hearts of the people of England. Of such a nature is the proposed scheme to erect a statue of Lincoln in London and a statue of the late Queen Victoria in Washington. The energy expended in this meaningless show of empty sentiment might well be directed in England in quelling some of the scenes that are enacted near the London statues of Victoria, and if statues are of value a few more of Lincoln might be set up on this side of the water with advantage. England is England and America is America, and no exchange of statues will destroy the individuality of the two nations. Just as well propose an exchange of the declaration of independence and the Magna Charta.

MODESTY IN DRESS

The extreme fashions of the day are being blamed in some quarters for much of the laxity in public morals which recent vice investigations are keeping before the public. Although undoubtedly the recent tendency in dress has been running along the lines of sexual suggestion, most of the styles are more liable to offend against good taste and beauty of line than against good morals. But there are those who say that what offends against beauty is pretty sure to offend against goodness, notwithstanding the fact that the costume of the extreme beauties of the Venus de Milo period is quite out of the question for modern usage. The average woman is not troubled over the fact that her dress may be slightly daring but she is pretty sure to insist on its being "the very latest."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Marriage and Divorce

Lawrence Sun: Those who have made a study of the divorce evil have learned that much of it is founded on the marriage evil. Too easy marriage leads to divorce. Elopements, dars, joy rides, engagements, divorce, marriages, too youthful marriages, and all fraught with the potency of divorce. It would seem that the best way for the church to emphasize the sacredness of marriage would be for its ministers to refuse to perform the ceremony in any such cases. A safe rule would be to refuse unless he knew and was entirely satisfied all the conditions were proper and calculated to make the marriage a good one.

Pure Logic

Manchester Union: Commenting on the fact that the red flag has been banned in Massachusetts, the Johnstown Democrat says that "after all, it is the flag that a man carries in his heart that counts." But if he daunts the red flag, the face of the world, that's a fair indication of the kind of flag he carries in his heart, isn't it?

Paulie Makers

Johnstown Democrat: The man who cries disaster when there is no disaster robs the great bank of credit upon which all men must draw. He needs faith upon which all enterprises that look to the future must rest. He frightens none without which great undertakings are impossible. There may be a man here and there who would welcome hard times, simply to "get something on the democrat." Such a man weighs party advantage against the well being of his country and declares in favor of party advantage. Woodrow Wilson has declared that "paulie makers" deserved to be hanged higher than Haman. But even such a gallows is a bit too low. The paulie maker deserves a deeper drop.

Washington Stunts

Lynn News: Mrs. Woodrow Wilson seems to be giving considerable impetus to a movement to clean up the city of Washington. Her position and her interest should count for a good deal in such a matter. And if she can succeed, she will have performed a national service which is difficult to be found in any American city. For this the citizens can only be held partly to blame, inasmuch as they have little or no voice in the affairs of their city.

Japanese Jinxes

Newport News: The anti-American agitation in Japan has given place in the public mind in that country to a solicitation regarding the emperor's illness. The war talk is confined to the political opponents of the present ministry, and the government newspapers are calling attention to the impossibility of anything like war because of the financial condition of the country.

SEVERAL FIRE ALARMS

Called Out Department Since Saturday

A blaze which was found very hard to extinguish, broke out last night about 11:15 in the frame building at 517-519 Middlesex street, owned by Lydia A. Fisher and occupied by the Enterprise market. Shepard Mission and a shoe shine parlor. A service was in progress at the time the alarm was sounded and all were greatly startled to see the flames creeping up the walls of the building, but fortunately the alarm had been sounded in time and all had ample opportunity to escape. Little damage was done by the flames, although the smoke poured out of the building in dense volumes for nearly an hour. The loss has not yet been estimated.

Several small fires Saturday night and Sunday called out the fire department and a alarm was sounded last night for a blaze in Page's new structure, next to the Sun building. The owners were being tried out and the woodwork being too close to the smoke stack caught fire. The fire was extinguished by the application of the chemical. The damage was slight.

CIRCUS STEWARD TALKS

Gives Some Interesting Hints on the High Cost of Living—Circus Here on Wednesday, June 11

Alfred L. Webb, steward of Ringling Brothers' circus, who is to visit Lowell on Wednesday, June 11, throws some interesting light on the present high cost of living. A talk with him would do much to open the eyes of the housekeeper, as well as the voter, to true conditions in this country.

Mr. Webb has been the steward of this circus for 15 years, and has the reputation of keeping the best cook tent in the circus business. Almost every circus chef has been trained under him and what he does not know about marketing and market conditions is scarcely worth knowing.

"It costs me only one cent more for each person in serving a meal for the circus than it did 15 years ago," says Mr. Webb. "I know from the running expenses of my home that the cost of living has increased 50 per cent in the last 10 years. But you see we of the circus escape this advance in large measure, because we have cut out the middle man. There you have your whole trouble—the middleman. He is the one who is making all the hardships in this country—also the money. By middlemen I mean those who stand between the consumer and the producer—commission merchants, cold storage firms, particularly the men who speculate in the necessities of life, the stock gambler and the jobber.

"Food should be cheap enough in this country for anybody; it is not properly distributed, that's all. The law will have to help out by ousting the middleman, but the housekeeper can do much. How is the marketing done for the average family? By telephone, the delivery man brings the food, the hired girl receives it, and the housekeeper does not know either its condition or its weight. If the women who run homes would visit the markets as I do, and study prices and foods, they would find their bills greatly reduced. They should not go to just one market, but to several, so they would pay a line in prices. Prices fluctuate, and I buy accordingly. If pork is high today, I buy veal, and vice versa. If both are high, I buy mutton. I look at what I buy, and I know what I am looking at. The market basket is a money saver."

MAY ESCAPE MERCURY DEATH

W. L. McCutcheon of Chicago Who Took Bichloride, Told That He May Recover

CHICAGO, May 26.—W. L. McCutcheon, an automobile salesman, who took three bichloride of mercury tablets by mistake and whom doctors Saturday thought was sentenced to death, received his reprieve yesterday. Physicians, after an examination and consultation at the hospital decided that McCutcheon had eliminated most of the poison from his stomach before it had entered the intestines, concluded that in all probability he would recover.

McCutcheon was taken to his home last night. It will be necessary to watch his condition closely for several days, however, the crisis arising when the residue of the poison passes through the kidneys. The automobile salesman suffered little yesterday. He retained his consciousness and was cheered by the report of the doctors. Frequently he discussed the case of B. Gaudier Walker, the Macon, Ga., banker, who died last week from the same poison, accidentally taken.

Surprise Party

A very pleasant surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Redmond, 35 Mead street, Friday evening, when their daughter Mary was surprised by a number of her young friends, and Miss Mary O'Brien on behalf of the company presented her with a beautiful gold locket and chain. Miss Redmond, although completely surprised, responded in a fitting manner. Games were played and piano solos were given by the Misses Mary Redmond, Lillian Powers, Mary Clift and Nellie Duff; vocal solos were given by Masters Paul Merrill, Harold McKoon, and John Tighe; readings by the Misses Alice Curran, Irene Tarrant, Mary O'Brien and Master John Clark. Refreshments were served. Miss Katharine May was the accompanist of the evening.

ANNUAL MEMORIAL SERVICE OF THE G. A. R.

Newcomb and Mayor

Addresses by Rev. E. H.

O'Donnell

Eloquent Tributes to Men Who Fought
Country's BattlesRoll of Dead Shows 50
Passed Away Dur-
ing YearREV. E. H. NEWCOMB
Orator of the Day

MAYOR JAMES E. O'DONNELL

The First Congregational church in Merrimack street was the scene, Sunday afternoon, of a beautiful and impressive memorial service. It was the annual gathering of the Grand Army posts of Lowell, a gathering that grows smaller yet more impressive as the years advance.

The chairman of the day was Earl A. Thibault, commander of Post 12. Thomas O'Hagan and J. Henry Caverly commanded Posts 120 and 152. The music was by the first chorus choir of the church, Frank Brown Murphy, director, Miss Ella Leona Gale, organist.

The exercises were opened by the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers." James O'Sullivan read General Order No. 11; Rev. C. A. Lincoln read the scriptures, and the choir sang "Lead Kindly Light." The invocation was by Rev. Raymond C. Clapp, and the roll of the dead was read by Adjutant Worthen, Butler and Co. of the three G. A. R. posts. Solennized notes followed the reading of the list. The bugler was G. E. Bryant. Following the reading of the entire list a requiem was sung by a quartet and "To Thee, O Country" was sung by the chorus choir.

Rev. Appleton Granitis, of St. Anne's church, read Lincoln's famous address at Gettysburg, and prayer was offered by Rev. Charles E. Davis. There was a very fine address by Mayor James E. O'Donnell and a splendid oration by Rev. Edward H. Newcomb. After the oration, "America" was read by Solon W. Stevens, Esq., and stanzas were sung by the choir and audience, with organ accompaniment. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. T. L. Frost.

Mayor O'Donnell's Address

Mayor James E. O'Donnell said:

Comrades of the G. A. R. and Ladies and Gentlemen:

Half a century has rolled by since the sturdy men of Lowell, in response to their president's call, led an entire nation to the scene of the greatest conflict the world has ever known. Half a century has passed since the men of Lowell shed the first patriot blood offered for the defense of the world's greatest government, our own, imperishable union.

Over five thousand Lowell men enlisted in the Civil War and of these, three hundred and fifty-seven met death in the service. Of the number who returned, one by one, like the sands in the great hour glass of time, they have fallen and passed on, until today in Lowell only two hundred and fifty veterans of the war remain. On Friday next, some of these few survivors perhaps will parade the streets of Lowell for the last time. While in a few years more, the last trail of gold that still outlives the sunset of the war will have gone down behind the horizon; death's grim courier will have sounded the final "taps" the night of history will have closed upon the war and that noble organization whose faltering and shattered ranks thrill all hearts with love and patriotism—the G. A. R.—will have become one of memory's treasures, to be kept ever green and bright even as its members for fifty-two long years have kept green the memory of their comrades who have gone before.

The first to respond to the country's call were Lowell men. Should not every true Lowellian feel proud and grateful for the position taken by the citizens of Lowell of the past generation, in that greatest of wars, Men of Lowell, yet unborn will read in history's pages of the conspicuous part played by their city in the Civil war, and will envy us of the present generation, who were privileged to live with and to know the heroes of the great tragedy of '61.

It is not my purpose to dwell upon the war itself, as the story of that unprecedented conflict, unparalleled in the history of the world, is well known to us all. It has well been said that the brightest glory of the war for the Union was the self-sacrifice of the north in the day of victory. No other nation ever honored the dead of the enemy in common with their own and decorated their graves with flowers. As John Boyle O'Reilly in an address to the G. A. R. once said, "No nation ever before refused to celebrate its triumphs. England celebrates Waterloo; Germany celebrates the Sedan; Russia celebrates Plevna, but except in silent thanksgiving, America will never celebrate Gettysburg. Sorrow and glory went hand in hand."

No; America's only Civil war day will be the Memorial day on which, as long as the republic endures, America will honor the memory of her sons who fought and fell in the great struggle of '61; those who fought for the right and those who fought for the cause they thought was right.

Each American holiday commemorates, or is dedicated to some sublime or lofty cause or event and there is none more sweetly impressive than Memorial day which, while nominally dedicated to the soldiers of the Civil war, has become a day upon which is felt the great touch of nature that makes all mankind akin, when we realize with living that "there is a remembrance of the dead to which we turn even from the charms of the living," when rich and poor alike turn aside from their daily avocations, and with garlands and blossoms retreat to the graves of their loved ones. You have taught us to venerate the dead. You have turned away the gloomy aspect of the graveyard and have transformed it into a shrine, the redolence of your flowers, beautifully typifying the fragrant memory in which you hold your departed comrades. Memorial day, gentlemen, will ever be observed in your honor and memory, for we are bound, for the perpetuation of high principles of patriotism among the people, for the education of the young, for the honor of America and the glory of humanity, to honor and cherish the declining years of the brave men who offered their lives, to keep this republic united, and to perpetuate the memory of those who have already passed on.

The American republic represents the highest form of civilization, and such it must steadily advance. At the time of its birth the patriotic farmers who "fired the shot heard round the world" proved competent to uphold it during the period of its infancy. Over half a century afterward, when its very foundation was threatened, you men whom we honor today arose to the momentous occasion and after a bloody struggle of four years' duration preserved its unity and brought it forth to a state of perfection hitherto undreamed of. And so it shall go for all time. Wherever that flag goes, that you fought so nobly to defend, we of the present and future shall follow. Wherever it has gone there has been greater independence, greater nationality, greater opportunities and greater happiness. It has never been defeated and the republic it represents has never been forced to retreat. We who are to succeed you pledge you to keep alive that great spirit of patriotism which actuated you to sacrifice life, business and home for the preservation of the Union, and to instill into the minds of the citizens yet to come the noble lesson taught by you and the comrades whose memory you honor today.

The Son of a Veteran
Rev. Edw. H. Newcomb delivered a fine oration. He said he was in sympathy with the veterans of the Grand Army, and it was but natural that he should be in sympathy with them. His own father having been a Union soldier, Mr. Newcomb said, in part: "Friday has been set apart as a memorial to those who laid their lives upon the altar in defense of this country. We have met together here today in order that we may be better prepared for the proper observance of that day. We have gathered on this holy day, within walls which have echoed the praises of God for many years, here to pray that his blessing will rest upon that day, that we should understand what it means to be one in spirit, one in gratitude, one in aspiration; to the end that the coming formalities of Memorial day may be illumined with a glory of true patriotism; to the end that the tendency may be checked to make this national holy day an unholy holiday.

"We are steadily pressing forward, but ever and anon it becomes us to stop and look backward. From our vantage point we have a panoramic view of the field over which we have come and over which those who preceded us have come. From the time when the Pilgrims landed on this bleak New England coast to the present time, what a wonderful history, what a wonderful pilgrimage! Let us thank God and take courage!"

"The message of today naturally is to you veterans. No true American would attempt to deny to you the satisfaction which comes to you when you feel that you did a constructive work, a work that was essential to American liberty, to American progress. All through these 50 years you have had that satisfaction. Whether you did a small service or a large service, it was a permanent service. Take that satisfaction, keep it, let it abide with you."

"But amid all the memories and inspirations of this memorial season, let me call your attention to that which I believe you will acknowledge is vital—the permanence of thought and the permanence of allegiance to our God, the God of our fathers, the same God, who manifested himself in the early history of our country, the same God to whom Washington prayed and upon whom Washington depended. The same God who watched over the destinies of this nation from 1681 to 1865 has been watching over you ever since. You have come to the evening of life. May the same God so reveal himself to you, and may your allegiance be so strong, that the light of his glory will shine through every cloud and you may be expectant. But try to you, as you have been true to you. May the light of his inspiration and revelation light up these closing years of your life. This was the consolation of that old Christian warrior, St. Paul. O, how suggestive! I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course. I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness." St. Paul had more to look forward to than all the glory and all the achievement of the past, and so do you veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic. Great has been your achievement; so make your allegiance to God of such a character that the future will hold out to you that which is far more glorious than ever could have been contained in the past.

"The message of today is to those of the young generation. The battle of today is not necessarily a military conflict, but nevertheless it is a struggle, a fight to secure that which has been handed down to us, that which would make this country better. It depends upon us. We are too prone to forget the days gone by. O, may this season bring to us that revelation and that spirit which will arouse us to an appreciation of what it all means, and what it all cost! With such a heritage as ours, may we be fearful lest we forget—lest we forget!

"We must not let this occasion pass without emphasizing the spirit of true union; not simply a conquered nation, but a united nation; that spirit which actuated the emperor, who when reminded, after his victory, that he had sworn to destroy his enemies, said: 'Have I not done so? They are no longer my enemies, they are my friends!'"

MEMORIAL SERVICE

At St. Paul's Church—Many Seats Were Occupied by Veterans and Other Guests

St. Paul's M. E. church in Hurd street was the scene Sunday morning of a patriotic service that was most inspiring. The church was prettily decorated and standing room was at a premium.

Ladd & Whitney post, 155, G. A. R., Admiral Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans, Ladd & Whitney club, Ladies of the G. A. R., and Mary E. Smith tent, Daughters of Veterans, were the guests of honor, and there were also delegates from James A. Garfield Women's Relief corps, 33.

Presentation of Flag
A pretty feature of the occasion was the presentation of a handsome flag to the Sunday school by two delegates from James A. Garfield Relief corps, President Mrs. Estina E. Parker and Mrs. A. F. Kilpatrick. The latter making the presentation speech. Assistant Superintendent N. J. Marcotte of the Sunday school accepted the flag in behalf of the school.

The military organizations were greeted as they entered the aisles with a burst of martial music and as soon as they were seated the color guard, "Banner" was sung, the chorus choir leading the singing with Peter Picken as leader. Mrs. Gertrude Pratt Hutchinson, cornetist, joined in all the music of the service, sounding "taps" at the close, just before the benediction.

The military organizations were out in large numbers and enjoyed the service to the utmost. It was all patriotic from start to finish. The Sunday school children joined, two of them, Violet Rooney and Evelyn Doherty, singing a solo part to one of the anthems, and all the anthems were patriotic in type. Rev. George W. King, the pastor, in opening his sermon, referred to the dedication of St. Paul's church, of which the church is proud. This church was the first to throw Old Glory to the breeze after the beginning of hostilities in '61. That flag was in the church, draped over the small organ and the pastor said the church keeps it as a sacred relic.

Calvary Baptist Church
Members of Companies K, G and C, Sixth regiment, and Company M, Ninth regiment, M. V. M., attended a memorial service at Calvary Baptist church last night, and enjoyed a remembrance talk by Capt. T. F. Gardner, a veteran of the Civil war.

Capt. Gardner participated to the battle of the Wilderness, and other memorable engagements of the campaign, and his experiences proved highly interesting to his audience. Capt. Gardner referred to the raids by Col. Morgan and Col. Mosby, which created havoc in the Union ranks, and particularly to his own regiment, and he paid a tribute to the skill and daring of these leaders.

Music appropriate to the service was sung by the church choir.

Worship Street Baptist
Memorial Sunday was observed at the Worship Street Baptist church yesterday, with services in the forenoon at 10:30 o'clock that were attended by a large congregation, as well as many members of James A. Garfield post, 120, G. A. R., and affiliated organizations. Rev. Dr. Frost, pastor, preached a memorial sermon on "True Greatness."

First Universalist Church
At the First Universalist church,

Sunday morning, Rev. Cate E. Fisher preached on "Memorial Day Memories," the choir singing, during the services, selections appropriate to the occasion.

Rev. Dr. Fisher's text was taken from Hosea 12:5, "Even the Lord, God of hosts, the Lord is his memorial." He spoke of the high ideals that had been the outgrowth of our great Civil war, and paid tribute to the immortal Lincoln and the brave men who died that the nation might live. When we think of Abraham Lincoln we think of him not as being dead, but as being alive, and we love to ponder and theorize upon the spiritual world and the grand activities of our martyred heroes, who dwell therein. The preacher spoke of the love of country and of freedom inherent within us, and reminded his hearers that patriotism was not confined to the battlefield, but was manifest also in the heroic, self-sacrificing efforts toward civil righteousness, in devotion to duty, in fealty to conscience, in courage of conviction.

Vets at Chattanooga
CHATTAHOOGA, Tenn., May 26—Chattanooga today was the mustering place for thousands of southern Civil war veterans, who came for the 33rd annual reunion, which will be begun tomorrow. With the veterans were hundreds of guests and members of allied organizations, who were expected to bring Chattanooga total of visitors up to 150,000 during reunion week.

LAWRENCE AGAIN DEFEATS LOWELL

Manager Pieper's Team Trimmed
Gray's Outfit Before Big Crowd
Saturday Afternoon

The down river league leaders and champions came here Saturday and their presence was the chief inducement for the large crowd of about 2,000 fans who made tracks for Spaulding park to see the two old rivals clash.

At the outset the weather man appeared to frown on the ball players and fans and it looked as though there was destined to be another postponement. However, by burning gasoline about the bases and other places in the infield, the grounds were gotten into fair shape, though far from favorable for fast play. At third and near first the land was pretty moist while in the outfield there were several puddles of fish pond proportions.

First Inning
Carlstrom struck out and O'Connell went out by the Anderson to Halstein route. Bruggy poked a Texas leaguer to right field. Luyster hit a hot one to Dee, which he went after and which hit him in the neck and bounced to Anderson. Anderson made a fake motion of throwing to first and caught Bruggy off second.

Clemens opened for the home team with three empty swings and DeGroff was retired in the same undignified manner. Miller hit through the short stop but was caught off first by Martin to Carlstrom, the latter throwing to second where Miller was nailed.

Score: Lawrence 6, Lowell 0.
Second Inning
Mahoney and Phoenix were both put away by Barron to Halstein and Cargo fanned.
Mager was put away by Cargo to Carlstrom and Halstein was out by Phoenix to Carlstrom. Monahan was safe at first when Cargo juggled his grounder and Dee retired the side by flying out to O'Connell.

Score: Lawrence 6, Lowell 0.

Third Inning
Breyer was put away by Barron to Halstein and Barron retired Martin on a close play to Halstein. Carlstrom flied out to DeGroff.

Anderson hit safely and Monahan took his place on the bases. Barron laid down a bunt along the third base line and Mahoney fielding it, threw wildly to first. Monahan scored and Barron reached third base. Clemens was retired by Phoenix to Carlstrom and DeGroff struck out. Miller hit to left center, scoring Barron. Mager flied to DeGroff.

Score: Lawrence 9, Lowell 2.

Fourth Inning
O'Connell got the first pass handed out in the game and he was forced out at second by Barron to Miller when Bruggy grounded to the Lowell pitcher. Bruggy safe, fielder's choice. Luyster then slammed the ball over the left field fence for a home run, scoring Bruggy and himself, and tying the score. Mahoney flied out to Anderson and Phoenix fanned.

Halstein grounded out to Carlstrom. Monahan popped out to Phoenix, and Dee hit safely to center field. Anderson hit to the short stop who threw to Phoenix, forcing out Dee.

Score: Lawrence 9, Lowell 2.

Fifth Inning
Cargo was put away by Barron to Halstein. Breyer flied out to Monahan and Martin put out a high one which Miller gathered in.
Barron fanned and Clemens hit to center field. DeGroff fanned for the third successive time and Miller closed by fouling a high one to Breyer.

Score: Lawrence 9, Lowell 2.

Sixth Inning
Carlstrom hit a three-bagger to left center field and scored on O'Connell's hit to right field. O'Connell, however, was thrown out at second by DeGroff to Barron to Miller. Bruggy fanned. Luyster came across with a triple to left center and scored when Anderson fumbled Mahoney's grounder. Phoenix flied out to Clemens.

Mager flied to Bruggy, Halstein out, Phoenix to Carlstrom, and Monahan flied out to Carlstrom.

Score: Lawrence 9, Lowell 2.

Seventh Inning
Cargo hit a high one to Clemens and Breyer was given a ticket to first. Martin hit to Barron and was easily thrown out to Halstein, advancing Breyer to second, and Carlstrom fanned.

Dee walked and went to third when Anderson hit to right field. Luyster drove a liner to the pitcher which the latter caught and threw to Carlstrom for a double. Clemens flied out to Mahoney.

Score: Lawrence 9, Lowell 2.

Eighth Inning
O'Connell opened with a double to right field and went to third when Bruggy went out, Dee to Halstein. Luyster singled to right, scoring O'Connell, and stole second. Mahoney was put away by Anderson to Halstein. Phoenix drove the ball to center field and Luyster crossed the plate for another run. Cargo walked and Breyer flied out to Clemens.

DeGroff flied out to Mahoney. Miller hit for two bases along the third base line. Halstein hit to Cargo who made a poor throw to first and Halstein was safe. Mager going to third on the play. Monahan put a single to right, scoring Mager. Halstein being held at second. Dee hit the ball a foot in front of the plate and Martin threw him out.

Score: Lawrence 6, Lowell 3.

Ninth Inning

Martin flied out to Clemens. Carlstrom scratched an infield hit along the third base line. Carlstrom stole second, Monahan throwing a little wide of the bag. Carlstrom then stole third, which was some feat considering the muddy condition of the grounds. O'Connell hit to Dee who threw him out to Halstein, holding Carlstrom at third. Bruggy closed by flying out to Clemens in short center.

Anderson flied out to Mahoney. Daly came up to bat for Barron. Daly flied out to Carlstrom. Clemens fanned.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

The Lowell pitchers will learn after a while not to grove a ball for the Lawrence captain. Luyster lifted one for three bases in the last game when Barron put one over the center of the pan with three balls and two strikes on him. Four hits for a total of nine is some clouting!

DeGroff showed the poorest form he has displayed for some time every time that he faced Martin. He struck out three times and popped up to Mahoney on his fourth appearance. The Lowell right fielder never could seem to fathom a southpaw, but he went after some tough looking balls in Saturday's contest.

The quick shifting of the schedule, necessitated by the changing of the Haverhill franchise to Fall River, seems to have hurried the committee which had charge of it. Four games in a row with Worcester this week! Wednesday and Thursday Hurkett's outfit will be seen here, while Lowell will play in Worcester today and tomorrow.

Carlstrom did some very creditable work on the bases in the ninth. He stole second and third after getting his infield hit, some feat when the soggy condition of the paths is taken into consideration. To see Carlstrom in his street clothes one wouldn't think that he had energy enough to get out of the way of a loaded drag, but the toughest first baseman can use his feet, just the same.

That was a mighty lucky stab of Martin's in the seventh, when he made a one-hand catch of Barron's liner and threw to first for a double play. The ball was away to his left and the Lawrence pitcher simply stashed at it with his gloved hand. There were two men on at the time. Dee having walked and Anderson reaching first on a safety to right field. If Martin had only knocked down the ball there might have been a different ending to the contest.

We don't wish to insinuate anything about Anderson's ten place but the ball which hit him on the side of the head in the second inning bounced over the grand stand and did not stop rolling until it brought an against the street fence. Although Monahan took his place at first when he trotted onto the field in the next inning, Anderson did not appear to mind the run in the least. However, his cranium showed no sign of being in it when he bluffed Bruggy into starting off second base in the first and snatching the ball to Miller for the putout. It was the cleverest play pulled off at the local grounds this season.

Mr. Pleasant Club
The first qualifying round for the president's cup at the M. P. Pleasant Links Saturday was won by T. C. Corcoran with 22 gross and Dr. H. E. Dabbs with 23 net. E. L. Childs won the driving contest, sending the sphere 150 yards, 23 inches.

DEE PLAYING A GREAT GAME

Diminutive Third Baseman One of Lowell's Stars

"Shorty" Dee, Lowell's diminutive short stop of last year who is playing the hot corner this season, has been playing a great game for the local club this year. He has improved wonderfully in every department of the game over his work of last year. When he came to Lowell in the middle of last season he had never played professional ball before. This fact, however, did not bar the little fellow from entering his first game with all the ginger and life that an old timer, whose experience had lent confidence to, would be expected to have and his initial performance here at once caught the fancy of the fans. Today there are few third basemen in any class B league who have anything on "Shorty" when it comes to fielding his position and whipping the sphere over to first base and although his batting average is excellent by several hits are timely. Taking everything into consideration the Lowell team is mighty fortunate to have the services of this player this season.

In Charge of Turkish Reforms

FRANKFORT, Germany, May 26.—Viscount Milner, formerly high commissioner for South Africa is to be appointed general inspector in charge of the Turkish reforms, according to the Constantinople correspondent of the Frankfort Gazette. The contract is to be signed and Viscount Milner will take over his new duties as soon as the British foreign office has consented to his appointment.

Mrs. Atwood Gets Divorce
RENO, Nev., May 26.—Mrs. Sarah J. Atwood was awarded a decree of absolute divorce from Harry N. Atwood, the aviator, upon her allegation that he deserted her on Feb. 1, 1912.
The couple were married in Lynn on Feb. 7, 1906, and have a daughter, who is left in the custody of the mother, Atwood agreeing to pay them $30 weekly for their support.

SET OF TRIPLETS BORN

Two Girls and a Boy at a Birth

LYNN, May 26.—Triplets were born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Christopher J. Keane of 132 Alley street. The three children were living last night, but there is some apprehension that the boy, the smallest of the trio, will not survive.

Two girls, weighing six pounds each, and the boy, weighing four pounds and a half, were born just after daylight. The girls seemed to Mrs. E. T. Manly and P. C. Devlin, the attending physicians, to be healthy and giving every evidence of becoming thriving infants, but the boy did not seem to have the vitality of his sisters.

Mrs. Keane was reported by the physicians to be out of danger. The father is a laborer and was overjoyed at the announcement of the doctors that his wife had given birth to triplets.

YANKIES GET PECKINPAUGH

Manager Frank Chance Secures Cleveland Shortstop in Trade For Stump and Lelivelt

NEW YORK, May 26.—The trade by which shortstop Peckinpaugh comes from the Cleveland club to the New York Americans in exchange for infielder Stump and Outfielder Lelivelt is expected by Manager Chance to plug the long existing gap at short in the Yankees' infield. Derrick, Stump and McKeehan have been tried successively but none has solved the shortstop problem.

In Peckinpaugh the Yankees have obtained a player with a fielding record of .824 for Cleveland last year. His batting average was .212.
The Cleveland club will be the fourth club in the American league in which Lelivelt has seen much service. He started out with the Athletics, then went to Washington, from which city he was sent to Rochester. He was brought to New York last season.

BURGLARS TAKE $20,000

First Lock Up Family and Cut Wires

CHICAGO, May 26.—Burglars took possession of the residence of Wm. A. Tager early yesterday morning and after locking the family and the servants in their respective quarters, cutting the telephone wires and switching off the electric lights, stole $20,000 worth of jewelry. The jewelry had been hidden in a closet off a bathroom.

Police are seeking for a butler and maid who left the employment of Tager a few days ago, in the hope that they may give some information about the robbery.

Yager is president of the Arms Palace Horse Car company. The stolen jewelry consisted chiefly of diamonds, rings, necklaces and brooches belonging to Mrs. Tager. The robbery was discovered when the servants found themselves locked in and were forced to break out of their quarters.

JOE EAGAN IN DEMAND

Will Meet Kennedy and Dohan This Week

Joe Eagan, the clever South Boston lightweight, is one of the busiest boxers in the ring have placed him in great demand and all clubs are anxious to have him take part in their meetings. For this week he has two bouts on and both are against clever performers. Tomorrow night he will meet Steve Kennedy of Lawrence at the Atlas A. C. Meaton, and on Friday afternoon he will appear in the main bout at the Lowell A. C. field day at Spaulding park, meeting Johnny Dohan of New York. Dohan was substituted for Matty Baldwin, who wrote Joe Thomas that he is on the sick list with boils. The substitution of Dohan is a good one, for aside from his popularity here, he is a sturdy boxer and one who always satisfies. Eagan's quick rise to prominence is a much discussed topic, and if he can remove from his path the two sturdy men that he faces this week he will have accomplished a great deal.

INCREASE IN THE TAX RATE
Is What It Looks Like Up to Date
Unless We Get Glad
News From the State

It looks as if this city was due for another increase in tax rate. Unless our share of the state tax should be considerably less than last year, there will be an increase of more than 50 cents in Lowell's tax rate for 1913. The assessors have not yet received the figures on Lowell's state tax for 1912. The assessors have received the figures on the county tax and it shows an increase over last year.

The county tax for 1912 was $72,505.60, and for 1913, $78,780.42, an increase of $6,274.82. The city's obligations with regard to appropriations are larger this year than last year. Last year the city appropriated $1,410,100. This year the sum of $1,455,500 was appropriated, an increase for 1913 of $45,400. This increase added to the increase as shown by the county tax figures, makes a total increase in the tax levy, thus far, of $45,674.82, with the state tax still to be heard from.

Every $470 increase in the amount to be levied represents an increase of ten cents in the tax rate and the increase in appropriations and county tax in 1913, as compared with 1912, represents an increase in the tax rate of about 57 cents.

SCHOOLS WILL CLOSE
High School Graduation
Exercises at Keith's

The public schools will close Wednesday, June 25, and the exercises of graduation of the high school will be held on the evening of the 25th, at Keith's theatre.

The graduation exercises of the industrial school will be held Monday evening, June 24, and the school will close on the Friday evening previous to the date of the graduation exercises. It is expected that the exercises will be held in the high school hall.

The Lowell Textile school will close June 26th, and the exercises will be held on the afternoon of that day at 2:30 o'clock. Mayor O'Donnell, today, received an invitation to attend the exercises.

C. H. HANSON & CO. VS. McGRATH
Case Tried in Superior Court, Jury Waived Session—Court Reserved Decision

At this afternoon's session of the superior court without jury, the case of C. H. Hanson & Co. vs. Marion McGrath of Concord, went to trial. In this case the plaintiffs sued to recover on a promissory note to the amount of $111, in payment for a horse purchased at their stable in Rock street, this city.

The testimony was to the effect that C. H. Hanson & Co. sold a horse to the defendant on May 5, 1902, the price being $200. It was stated that $100 was paid in cash and a note given for the balance. About a week after the purchase Mr. McGrath telephoned to the Hanson stable in the city and informed the officials of the company that his horse was sick. The reply was that there was nothing alarming for the horse was green.

A few days later so testified Chas. H. Hanson, the horse was returned to the stable and the same was sold to another party for the sum of $250. This amount was deducted from the note and also the board for the horse for one week, $6, as well as five per cent. commission for the sale of the horse were added.

After hearing the testimony the court announced he would give his findings later.

TO CONNECT WOOD WITH DYNAMITING
Further Evidence Introduced by Prosecution Today—Checks and Vouchers Exhibited

BOSTON, May 26.—Further evidence to show the connection of President William M. Wood of the American Woolen Co. with the conspiracy to "plant" dynamite in Lawrence to discredit textile strikers during the industrial troubles of 1912, was introduced by the prosecution at today's session of the trial of Mr. Wood, Frederick E. Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins. Checks and vouchers showing payments to Mr. Atteaux by the American Woolen Co. with Mr. Wood's approval have been presented and District Attorney Pelletier endeavored to show the relations of these payments with the alleged conspiracy.

Small Attendance
Interest in the case, so far as is indicated by the attendance of spectators is lessening, and when the proceedings were resumed very few except those whose presence was required were on hand.

The cross examination of Commissioner of public safety Cornelius J. Lynch of Lawrence, was continued by Daniel H. Coakley, counsel for Atteaux. At adjournment Friday Lynch was testifying regarding the stories of the dynamite "plant" told by Green to the authorities at Lawrence. Mr. Coakley read from a stenographic report of an examination of Green by the police a few days after the discovery of the dynamite and the witness said he recalled the statements recorded therein.

Treasurer Dweilley Recalled
Treasurer Dweilley of the American Woolen Co. was then recalled by the district attorney. The members of the board of directors of the company constituted the executive committee of which he was the clerk, he said. Meetings of the executive committee were held on Jan. 4 and Jan. 15, 1912.

The witness said that both the executive committee and the board of directors met last December that the company should pay the expenses of President Wood's defense but no payment on that account has yet been made. Under cross-examination by Henry F. Hurlbut, counsel for Mr. Wood, the witness explained the company's methods of drawing checks and making a memorandum voucher for each check drawn, to avoid keeping notations on check stubs. The witness produced a paper which he called a bank check on which appeared an entry corresponding to the check for $505 paid to Atteaux on March 22, 1912, and which as the voucher indicated was for "expenses incurred in connection with strike at Lawrence." The vouchers, Mr. Dweilley said, were kept separately and were checked up at the end of each month with the bank sheet.

Vouchers Introduced
Vouchers bearing Mr. Wood's approval and indicating other payments on March 22, 1912, on account of the strike were introduced. One showed that William M. Butler, former president of the state senate and a well known lawyer and textile manufacturer, received $19,410, and Powers & Hall, the law firm of which former Congressman Samuel Powers, one of Mr. Wood's counsel, is a member, received $10,000.

Operates 35 Mills
Mr. Hurlbut brought out that the American Woolen Co. operates 35 mills in six states. The Wood mill which previous testimony showed to have been built on commission by Pittman, was built for the Wood Worsted mills. Dweilley said, and this corporation was taken over some time later by the American Woolen Co. Taking up Atteaux's services during the strike, Dweilley told of a conversation he heard between Mr. Powers and Atteaux in which Powers told Atteaux to go to Plymouth and instruct the company's agent there that whatever the nature of the settlement of the Lawrence strike the operatives at Plymouth would receive similar concessions. The agents were also to be instructed what course to follow in case a strike should be called at Plymouth. Atteaux was also given similar instructions.

SUPERIOR COURT CASES TRIED
Jury Waived Session
Before Judge
Jennings
The Civil Session Trying
An Interesting
Case

The jury waived session of the superior court opened in this city this morning with Judge Charles A. Jennings of Hyde Park on the bench. The session will be in Lowell two weeks.

The long list of cases, including a large number of divorce proceedings was read, and several motions were presented to the court. The first case to go to trial was that of Margaret Carmody of Lowell, vs. Thomas Carmody of Providence, R. I. In this case the plaintiff sued for the recovery of a bank account which it is claimed was on deposit in trust for the defendant by his brother, the late Jas. J. Carmody, former husband of the plaintiff, Mrs. Margaret Carmody is administratrix of the estate of her husband and she claims the money involved in this case is a part of the estate, which she is the sole heir.

Mr. Carmody, the defendant was the first witness called to the witness stand. He testified he is 32 years of age, and a resident of Providence, R. I., where he has been living for the past ten years. He said the late James J. Carmody, formerly of this city, was his brother. He said the latter died in this city on January 9, 1912, and before his death he had a conversation with him at which time deceased told him he intended placing money in a savings bank of this city in his name. Later, said the witness, a few days before his brother died, he again saw him in Lowell, and in the course of a long talk he had with him, he told him to get the money he had placed in a local bank in his name.

"Witness said the money was placed in trust for him to repay him for all he had done for other members of the family."

Messrs. Crowley & Toye of this city appear for the plaintiff, while the defendant is being represented by Alvin G. Weeks of Fall River.

At the close of the case the judge announced that he would find for the plaintiff in the full amount of the money involved in the case.

Other local cases scheduled to be tried before this court are as follows:

Games Postponed
National at Pittsburgh: Pittsburgh-Cincinnati game called off in first inning, darkness.

Smashed Window
The police are looking for a man who smashed a plate glass window in Brady's saloon, at the corner of Worth and Fletcher streets, and helped himself to a quart bottle of liquor, early Sunday morning.

CORPUS CHRISTI FEAST OBSERVED WITH POMP
Grand Open Air Procession at St. Patrick's—The Observance in Other Catholic Churches

Corpus Christi, the special feast of the Blessed Sacrament, is usually celebrated by the Catholic church throughout the world with an unusually elaborate ritual which generally includes a procession. The Catholic churches of Lowell, so observed the solemnity of the feast, yesterday, and although the weather threatened to interfere with the arrangements of the program as planned it was carried out in every particular. The celebrations in the various churches were attended by great crowds.

Grand Procession at St. Patrick's
The beautiful procession which has been a feature of the annual celebration of Corpus Christi at St. Patrick's church for many years was held yesterday with a perfection of detail and wealth of Christian symbolism which made it unusually impressive. Because of the threatening nature of the weather in the morning it was feared that the outdoor part of the procession would have to be abandoned, but a short time before the scheduled time a heavy shower cleared the air and great brilliancy and the weather conditions throughout the celebration were unique.

The Corpus Christi observance commenced with the celebration of mass at 11 o'clock at which Rev. William Burke of New York city, a nephew of Monsignor O'Brien was the celebrant. Mass was prepared for the priesthood at Dunwoody seminary, Dunwoody, N. Y. and was ordained a week ago at St. Patrick's cathedral, N. Y. Cardinal Farley, Rev. Joseph F. Curran was deacon and Rev. John J. Kerrigan was sub-deacon. The music was special to the occasion and the sermon was preached by Rev. Timothy Sullivan who dwelt on the dignity of the priesthood with special reference to the newly ordained priest, Rev. Fr. Burke. He also referred to the institution of the Blessed Sacrament by Jesus Christ on the eve of the last supper and the growing love and devotion of Christ's solicitude for humanity and the great central principle of our Catholic faith.

Rev. Mr. O'Brien reviewed the procession and then marched in line to the altar on the church grounds where he assisted at benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Solemn prayers were intoned at 2:30 o'clock at the conclusion of which Fr. Burke, bearing the gold monstrance containing the sacred host, attended by Frs. Curtin and Kerrigan, and followed by the sanctuary choir, entered the grounds of Notre Dame academy. Here the various divisions of the procession were drawn up in order and as the first division took up the march, the other sections fell into place with a precision that spoke wonders for the careful way in which the whole had been planned. Opposite the convent a temporary altar of rest had been erected and as the procession passed through the winding walks St. Cecilia's choir of the academy sang appropriate hymns. The sisters of the academy walked in the procession

FUNERALS
CORCORAN—With impressive services held at St. Patrick's church the remains of Mrs. Helena M. Corcoran were laid to rest in the family vault in the Catholic cemetery. The obsequies were attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends of the deceased, who were widely known. On all sides were apparent the sorrow for the deceased and sympathy for the bereaved family. This was notable in the cortege that left the house, No. 13 Hampton avenue, at 9 o'clock. At St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Joseph A. Jennings. The usual music was rendered, Miss Murphy and Andrew McCarthy sustaining the solos. The bearers were Messrs. James Tobin, Thomas Quinn, John J. Corcoran, Mr. James F. Tobin, Miss Mary Corcoran, Miss Marie Campbell of Manchester, N. H., Mrs. Dennis Lawton and Mrs. George Welch. The cortege then proceeded to the funeral home where the body was placed in a coffin. The funeral services were held at 10 o'clock at St. Patrick's church. The burial was in the family vault in the Catholic cemetery. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

ARREST FIGHT PROMOTERS
Warrants for Burns, McCarney and Smith

CALGARY, Alberta, May 26.—Warrants were issued today for the arrest of Tommy Burns, who staged Saturday's prize fight in which Luther McCarty met his death, Bill McCarney, McCarty's manager, Referee Ed Smith and several trainers and attendants. This developed following an order from the attorney-general at Edmonton that all principals in the arrangement for the fight be arrested and the northwest mounted police were instructed to execute the order immediately. It is understood that the men arrested will be charged with complicity in manslaughter.

Arthur Pelky, McCarty's opponent, who was arrested on a charge of manslaughter, was to be given a preliminary hearing in police court today but owing to the decision last night of the physicians who conducted the autopsy that McCarty's death resulted from dislocation of the neck and not heart failure as had been announced it is anticipated that the hearing will be adjourned waiting the result of the coroner's inquest, which will be held at four o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Fankhurst Rearrested
LONDON, May 26.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader who was released from Holloway jail on license on April 12 owing to the serious condition of her health arising from her "hunger strike" was rearrested today when she was leaving the house where she has been staying.

Naturalization Court
Clerk Dillingham of the superior court will come to this city some time between June 5 and June 15 to receive applications for naturalization papers. Mr. Dillingham talked with The Sun over the phone from the court house at East Cambridge, this afternoon, and when asked relative to his next trip to Lowell on naturalization work, stated: "I cannot set the exact time but it will be some time between June 8 and June 15. If I cannot take care of all the applications in two or three successive days, I will come again the following week. I will notify The Sun three or four days in advance."

County Commission
The county commission met at East Cambridge this forenoon. The commission meets every morning and Commissioner Marden stated that the commission, today, did not consider any business that would be of interest to Lowell.

JOHN COTTER WAS UNLUCKY
Met With Two Accidents In Two Months
Insurance Company Will Have to Settle

The second arbitration hearing under the workmen's compensation act was held in the old councilman's chamber at city hall this forenoon. The petitioner was John Cotter of 56 Franklin street. He was represented by Lawyer Murphy. Mr. David T. Dickinson represented the state industrial accident board, and G. H. Perkins as arbitrator, represented the American Mutual Liability Insurance Co.

The Saco-Lowell shops was the insurer. While engaged in operating a saw at the Saco-Lowell shops the petitioner, John Cotter, got his hand caught in the saw and two fingers were badly injured. He was removed to the Lowell hospital and received a three weeks' treatment there.

It was on Feb. 12 that Mr. Cotter was injured at the Saco-Lowell shops and on March 12 he went to the plant of the Lowell Gas Light company to visit a friend. While ascending a ladder to the spot where his friend was working he slipped and fell. On this occasion he was removed to St. John's hospital and was unconscious for about two days. The report of the accident at the Lowell Gas Light company's plant reached the insurance company and the story had it that Cotter had fractured his skull. This forenoon, however, Mr. Cotter denied the soft impeachment. He said he was knocked out for several hours but he did not sustain a fractured skull.

The petitioner was receiving $9.15 a week at the time of the accident and the arbitrators today agreed to allow him half wages, or $4.50 a week, from 12 days after the date of the first accident up to today, and partial compensation up to such time as he shall find employment. Mr. Cotter said he thought he would be able to obtain employment with the Lowell Gas Light Co. next week as an oiler.

In reply to questions by Dr. Dickinson, Mr. Cotter said the falling would pay about $13.50 a week, with time and a half for overtime, but that he would prefer the job of running a saw at the Saco-Lowell shops because, he said, the work was cleaner. Mr. Dickinson allowed that four or five dollars a week ought to represent a whole lot of dirt and he could not understand how the petitioner would prefer a job paying $9.15 a week to a job that paid $13.50 a week. The fact remains, however, that the petitioner is not able to take the "saw job" and will not be able to operate the saw for some time, but he told the arbitrators that he felt pretty sure of a job with the Gas Light company.

past before the feet of the priest who bore the host. In this way the walks were carpeted with flowers which many gathered as souvenirs after the procession had passed. After the flower petals were scattered, the canopy bearers, James J. Brown, Charles Griffin, John Adams and John McDermott, who bore aloft a rich canopy of scarlet and gold. Beneath the canopy marched Fr. Barker, bearing the monstrance, accompanied by Fr. Curtin and Korrigan. After the officiating clergymen marched a guard of honor from the Holy Name society and the Young Men's League.

When the procession had reached the monument, where a temporary altar had been erected, the assembled multitude knelt, and benediction of the blessed sacrament was given. The church choir was escorted to the left of the altar and they, with the members of St. Cecilia's choir, the sanctuary choir and all the assembled people sang "Holy God." "Jesus, My Lord, My God, My All" and many other hymns, while the children tolled out a grand accompaniment. After the open air benediction, the procession marched to the church where benediction was again given.

Whether regarded as spectacular merely, or in its deep religious sense, the procession was a sight of rare and symbolic beauty that will not be easily forgotten by those who were fortunate enough to witness it and to be stirred by its grandeur.

St. Peter's Church

At St. Peter's church yesterday the solemnity of the feast was elaborately observed. Rev. Fr. DeFerman was celebrant of the mass, Rev. Dr. Kelleher, deacon. Rev. Fr. Mullin, sub-deacon. There was a procession after mass in which the following societies appeared:

1st Division—Cross bearers and two assistants: four angels; children of Mary's banner, Alice Burns; streamer girls, twenty tiny children, white dresses, shoes and stockings, white hair ribbons, smilax wreaths, cross of palms, Catherine Hoy; forty children, white dresses, white hair ribbons, smilax wreaths, white hair ribbons. Faith, Mary Wilcox, Hope, Catherine Murphy, Charity, Lena Sharkey.

2nd Division (Blue). Banner, Mary Kelly. Thirty girls in white dresses and veils, blue sashes, white hair ribbons, carrying bouquets. 1—Eddie McGuire; 2—Laura Gendron; 3—Mary Corbett; 4—Dove—M. C. C.

3rd Division (Yellow). Banner, Josephine Plannagan. Thirty girls in white veils, yellow hair ribbons, yellow sashes, bouquets; 1—Mary Early and Mary Cull.

4th Division (Purple). Banner, Elizabeth. Thirty girls, white hair ribbons, white gloves, purple sashes, and palms. 1—Lantern. Genevieve Green, Alice Mack.

The procession came the altar boys and sanctuary choir boys. The canopy bearers were Michael Corbett, James Corbett, James Gorman, Edward Campbell and Dr. Carroll.

Immaculate Conception

A double celebration was held at the church of the Immaculate Conception yesterday morning when were observed the feast of Corpus Christi and the solemn closing of the Forty Hours devotion which began at the church on Friday.

There was a very large congregation at the 11 o'clock mass. The celebrant was Rev. Edward Fox, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Owen McQuaid, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. Brother William Healey as sub-deacon. The altars were beautifully adorned with flowers and lighted candles.

An elaborate musical program was rendered in an excellent manner by the church choir, under the capable direction of Mr. Joseph P. Courtney. Mrs. Hugh Walker was the organist. Rev. Fr. Tighe, O. M. I., the pastor, read the parish announcements at this mass and briefly addressed the congregation relative to the feast.

Following the mass, there was the procession of the Blessed Sacrament which owing to the uncertainty of the weather, was confined to the church, though it had been at first intended to go about the beautiful church grounds. In the procession were the boys and girls who recently received their first communion, the Junior branch of the Children of Mary sodality, the Junior branch of the Holy Name society, and as they proceeded about the aisles of the church, the choir sang the Pange Lingua. They rendered the Tantum

Could Not Go On Street Without Veil. Tells What Resinol Did For Her

Philadelphia, Dec. 6, 1912.—"In December, 1908, my face became sore. I tried everything that was recommended, and my face got worse instead of better. I spent over $100 and got no benefit. The face and nose were very red and the eruption had the appearance of small boils, which itched me terribly. I cannot tell you how terrible my face looked—all I can say is, it was dreadful, and I suffered beyond description."

"I have not gone on the street any time since 1908 without a veil, until now. Just four months ago a friend persuaded me to give Resinol a trial. I have used three cakes of Resinol Soap and less than a jar of Resinol Ointment, and my face is perfectly free from any eruption, and my skin is as clear and clean as any child's. It is about four weeks since the last pimple disappeared." (Signed) Mrs. M. J. Bateman, 4256 Viola Street.

Practically every druggist sells Resinol Ointment (50c and $1.00) and Resinol Soap (25c) but if you are suffering from itching, burning skin troubles, pimples, blackheads, dandruff, ulcers, boils, stubborn sores, or piles, it will cost you nothing to try these soothing, healing preparations. Just send to Dept. 26-S, Resinol, Baltimore, Md., for a free sample of each.

Ergo previous to the benediction. This procession constituted the closing of the Forty Hours devotion. In the evening the feast of Corpus Christi was observed with a procession and solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament with Rev. Lawrence, Fr. Tighe, O. M. I., as celebrant, Rev. Fr. McQuaid, O. M. I., as deacon, and Rev. Fr. Sullivan, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. In the evening, too, the procession was confined to the church and was participated in by the societies mentioned above. It was a most imposing ceremony and the congregation was very large. The service was closed with the singing of hymns by the entire congregation.

Sacred Heart Church

The large congregation at the half past eight o'clock mass yesterday morning at the church of the Sacred Heart witnessed an impressive scene when nearly two hundred boys and girls approached the altar rail to receive holy communion for the first time. Very Rev. T. Wado Smith, O. M. I., the pastor, celebrated the mass and gave holy communion.

The children took places reserved for them in the centre of the church. The little girls wore white dresses, white veils and wreaths, and the boys dark colored trousers and white blouses, with white silk bows on their sleeves and white gloves. The singing during the mass was by the children themselves and they rendered several hymns in a beautiful manner, including "Briming Flowers of the Forest," "My Jesus From His Throne Above," "O Saving Host," and "O Lord I am No Worthy," the latter just before communion.

Following the mass a communion breakfast was served the children, including the altar boys, in a hall in the school building, and this proved a joyous occasion. The feast was prepared by the Holy Name sodality, to whom the members of the parish made generous donations. The children were prepared for their first communion by the Sisters of St. Mary, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I. Great commendation is due all for their earnest efforts and the success which attended them.

The parish mass at 11 o'clock was celebrated by a recently ordained priest, Rev. Charles Webb of Tewksbury, and he was assisted by Rev. John Flynn, O. M. I., as deacon and Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. Throughout the entire service the Blessed Sacrament was exposed on the altar. To the altar a beautiful appearance was lent by numerous lighted candles, together with cut flowers and potted plants. The procession after the mass was participated in by the clergy, Rev. Fr. Webb carrying the sacred host under the canopy of white silk, the altar boys and the sanctuary choir. As the procession moved through the aisles of the church the choir rendered "Pange Lingua."

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock the boys and girls who had made their first communion in the morning gathered in the church where they were addressed by Rev. Fr. Smith, O. M. I., their pastor, and were received into their sodalities. In the evening the services opened at half past six and at this ceremony also the children occupied a place set aside for them in the centre aisle. The congregation and choir rendered hymns, and there was the recitation of the rosary. There was a procession at this service, in which the children took part, singing hymns. The service was closed by solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, the celebrant of which was Rev. Bernard J. Fletcher, O. M. I., and he was assisted by Rev. Fr. Flynn and Wood, O. M. I., as deacon and sub-deacon.

At St. Michael's

A beautiful ceremony in observance of Corpus Christi took place yesterday at St. Michael's church at the solemn high mass at 10:45 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Shaw, the pastor, was the celebrant of the mass with Rev. Fr. Murphy as deacon and Rev. Fr. Mullin as sub-deacon. Following the mass there was a procession of the clergy, altar boys, sanctuary choir and junior organizations of the parish, the sacred host being carried under the silk canopy. The procession made its way about the aisles of the church, while the sanctuary choir sang special hymns, and the church choir rendered "Pange Lingua." There was an elaborate musical program especially prepared for the occasion.

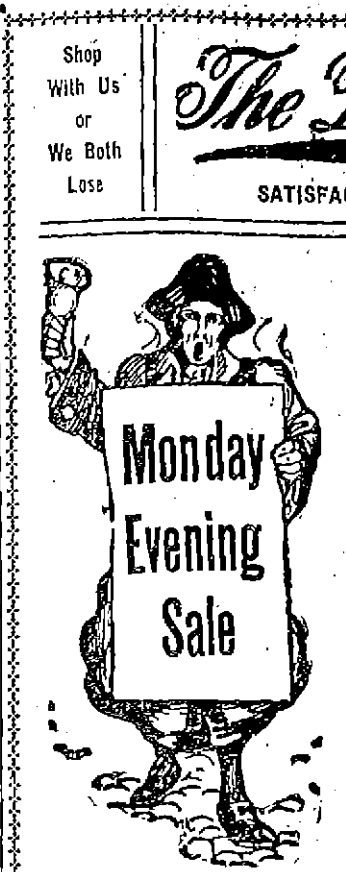

St. Louis Church

The feast of Corpus Christi was observed in a fitting manner at St. Louis parish yesterday afternoon, when a procession of the blessed sacrament was held through some of the principal streets of West Centralville. The event was scheduled to take place immediately after high mass at 10:30 o'clock, but on account of the threatening weather it was postponed until 1:30 in the afternoon, but just at that time a shower visited the city, and the procession did not start until 2 o'clock. Nevertheless the ceremony was held and proved to be the most successful in the history of the parish.

Practically every residence or home along the route of the procession was beautifully decorated with bunting of the national colors, and in many instances miniature altars were erected and pictures of the Sacred Heart were hung on the exterior of the houses. The district presented a very gay appearance, and the gatherings of people along the route were very large, many coming from other sections of the city.

A temporary repository was constructed on the veranda of the home of Mr. J. Anselm Pilon in Hillbreth street, and this was a mass of choice cut flowers. The altar was surmounted by a large sign bearing the inscription "Honneur a Jesus Hostie," while at the foot of the altar was a large picture of "The Last Supper of Our Lord." Solemn benediction was held at this pretty spot. Rev. L. C. Bedard officiating, his assistants being Rev. J. X. Jacques and Rev. J. A. Fortier. The procession started from the church in Halvort street at 2 o'clock sharp and the route was as follows: West Sixth street, Lakeview avenue, Fisher, Essex and Hildreth streets to the repository. After benediction the line of march was resumed and the procession wended its way down Hildreth, Knobel, Victor, Beaudet and West Sixth streets and into the church, where benediction was again held. Rev. R. A. Fortier officiating.

The formation of the procession was as follows: Marcel Roussel, marshal; cross, American and French flags, altar boys, school boys and school girls, accompanied by the nuns, children of Mary sodality with banners, young women of the parish, St. Anne's sodality with banner, women of the parish, Third Order of St. Francis, Sacred Heart League, church choir, Garde Frontonae, canopy with blessed sacrament and surrounded by Garde Jacques-Cartier and Garde d'Honneur, A. G. Cadets and Garde Sacre Cour.

Concerning Methods OF CUTTING PRICES

On Cigars and Cigarettes

At THE RIKER-JAYNES STORES

The question at issue is:

Shall Riker-Jaynes Stores be forbidden to sell you a certain popular brand of 25c cigarettes for 16c and save you 4c in cash—when another firm sells you the same package for 20c and gives you two coupons advertised to be worth 2c each in redemption value?

It is mainly the difference between Direct and Indirect methods and we chose the direct. Our way of doing business has always been the plain straight-forward-direct way as being most satisfactory to our customers and to ourselves.

When the question of prices has arisen we have always said we will not be undersold—whether the cut in prices be direct or indirect, and we still continue to pursue the same policy.

When indirect cuts in prices on cigarettes and cigars were instituted we took the other method and made direct cuts on these articles.

We have chosen to meet indirect underselling of competitors with these direct cut prices as being an advantage both to our customers and to ourselves. We have left 2c more in your pocket instead of handing you a coupon advertised as to be worth 2c in redemption value.

By so doing we have apparently merited the wrath of the powers that be. The American Tobacco Company at present refuses to sell their product to the Riker-Jaynes Stores and have publicly announced the withdrawal of their former terms with us.

The difficult point to understand is the seeming inconsistency of the American Tobacco Company in condoning an indirect cut in prices by the United Cigar Stores Company, and condemning the same act when done openly and frankly in a direct way by a competitor of the United Cigar Stores Company.

The Riker-Jaynes stores take this occasion to inform their patrons that their lifelong policy still holds. That we prefer to keep faith with our public at the risk of losing our jobbers' discounts from the American Tobacco Company.

That our schedule of reduced prices on Cigarettes and Cigars is still in force.

Kills the Germ That Makes the Trouble

The deadly dandruff germ causes 90 per cent. of baldness. SULPHOLAC destroys this germ, overcomes dandruff, eczema, itching, scaly scalp, dry and feverish conditions that stop all hair growth.

SULPHOLAC combines the benefits of sulphur, with a highly prized germ destroyer. These ingredients make it a skin remedy of extraordinary value.

Easy to work into the scalp, readily taken up by the skin, this velvety-smooth cream gets to the seat of the trouble. Even in stubborn, aggravated cases, SULPHOLAC brings the scalp back to health, keeps it clean, soft and moist, stops falling hair and stimulates a good strong growth.

AUGUSTE H. JEAN DIED TODAY RISKS LIFE TO STOP RUNAWAY

Was Overseer at Lawrence Hosiery for 38 Years

Auguste H. Jean, overseer at the Lawrence Mfg. Co., died this morning at his home, 755 Moody street, after a short illness, which at first was not thought serious. Deceased was forced to leave his work a few weeks ago, but after a couple of days' rest, he returned to his duties and kept on working until last Thursday, when on his way to work he fell unconscious in Alken street. He was quickly removed to his home, and soon revived.

Yesterday he was apparently feeling well and retired at the usual hour. At midnight his wife awakened and found him sitting in bed. She spoke to him, but he did not reply and fell to the pillow, dead. A priest and a physician were summoned, but when they arrived life was extinct.

Auguste H. Jean was very well known in Lowell, for he always took a very active part in all matters concerning his own people. He was born in Kakoma, Que., April 24, 1848, and came to Lowell some 45 years ago. Shortly after his arrival in this city he entered the employ of the Lawrence hosiery, and soon proved an efficient employee. He was promoted to the position of overseer 38 years ago and held the position until the time of his death. He was held in high esteem by both his employers and employees, for he was a conscientious overseer and always ready to help his employees.

The news of his demise will be a sad blow to all who knew him, for he was possessed of such a character that he made friends, being always of a happy disposition, and a man of good and sound judgment. Deceased was very prominent in fraternal circles, and a good church member, having attended services in St. Joseph's church since his arrival in Lowell. He was a member of the Third Order of St. Francis, Holy Family sodality and Guard of Honor of the Sacred Heart. He was a founder of the St. Joseph Union of St. Joseph, and a member of the Union of St. Joseph, Union of St. Joseph, and the Pawtucketville Social Club.

For many years he conducted a store in Alken street, West Centralville, and lived for a long time in Cabot street, in that property known as the "overseer's" corporation of the Lawrence hosiery. Recently he purchased a home in Moody street, Pawtucketville, and it was there he was stricken with the fatal blow. All of this city, as well as two grandchild-children, Marie and Felice Jean. The family have the sympathy of their many friends in their sad hour of bereavement. Funeral notice later.

NEW CAPS FOR COPS

Police Officers Also Have New Badges

Following a well established precedent of being up-to-date in every particular and never missing an opportunity for betterment, or added attractiveness of her municipal branches, the city of Lowell has purchased new caps, coat badges and cap fronts for the members of the police force, which place the officers as far as neatness of appearance is concerned, on a par with the metropolitan police. The caps are of the latest model and are constructed as to afford the greatest comfort to the wearer.

The cap fronts and badges are beautifully made up. Those of the officers are gold plated, while the patrolmen's are silver plated. All of the cap fronts are somewhat different in design from the coat badges and in the case of the officers, there is embossed on these the words "Captain," "Sergeant," "Lieutenant," etc., according to the rank of the officer. There is also an embossed seal of the city of Lowell. The coat badges contain the inscription "Lowell Police." The cap fronts differ inasmuch as they are topped with the figure of an eagle. On the cap fronts of the patrolmen are inscribed their numbers, and the coat badges are the same as those of the officers except for the fact that they are plated with silver instead of with gold.

The cap and front together are highly attractive and smart. Welch is very well pleased with the new equipment, as are the other officers and patrolmen. They are certainly an attractive addition and will be appreciated by the citizens when the men appear wearing them in a few days.

James Gill Caught Animal Going at Fast Rate in Lewis Street This Morning

There was a runaway accident this morning in Suffolk street, which might have terminated in one of more fatalities were it not for the heroism displayed by Mr. James Gill of 40 Seawall street, driver for H. G. Bartlett, the well known real estate dealer. The driver of the team who did not give his name—had stopped opposite the Knowles scales company and had left his seat but a moment when the horse started to run down Suffolk street at an increasing rate of speed. Some men who stood near St. Patrick's church went to stop the runaway but drew back apparently frightened by the danger. The horse then turned over the Jefferson street bridge and made towards Lewis street where as is usual in that locality several children were playing. Mr. Gill had stopped his team at 29 Lewis street and on hearing the cries of some women he looked up to see the horse coming towards him. He rushed forward and seized the animal although he was dragged a few yards before he succeeded in bringing it to a stop. The women of the neighborhood gathered round and used all the English at their command in praising the heroic act of Mr. Gill. When the frightened driver came on the scene, he explained that he had borrowed the horse from a farmer in Dracut for the day, and did not expect the unpleasant surprise to which the animal had treated him.

LIVES OF 50 ENDANGERED THREATS TO PRES. WILSON

On the Torpedo Boat Destroyer Paul Jones Sentenced

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 26.—The lives of 50 sailors on the torpedo boat destroyer Paul Jones were endangered on Friday at the same hour of the explosion on the destroyer Stewart, according to information which leaked out today. The Paul Jones was making a speed test when a fireman noticed steam escaping from a crack in the tube of one of the boilers. The discovery was in time to avert a possible disaster. The Paul Jones boilers have been condemned and the ship will be sent at once to Mare Island navy yard for repairs.

INFLUENCE OF WOMEN

The influence of women, glorious in the possession of perfect physical health, upon man and upon the civilization of the world could never be measured—but what about the ailing, nervous, depressed woman who is a damper to all joyousness in the home and a drag upon her husband? Every such woman should remember that the one great American remedy for woman's ills is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and give it a trial at once, and thus put herself in the way of restoring that perfect physical health which is hers by birthright.

ROOSEVELT'S LIBEL SUIT

Opens Today at Marquette, Michigan

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 26.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, accompanied by a retinue of friends, witnesses and newspapermen, arrived here this morning. His suit for $10,000 damages, charging libel against George A. Newell, publisher of the Ishpeming Iron Ore, was scheduled to begin at two o'clock this afternoon with the selection of a jury.

Three straw hats enlivened the scene when Col. Roosevelt and his party stepped from the train. A touch of winter still lingers here and the appearance of the straws brought a round of applause. Accompanying Mr. Roosevelt were Robert Bacon, formerly assistant secretary of state and later ambassador to France; Truman Newberry, former secretary of the navy; Gifford Pinchot, James R. Garfield, Regis Post, former governor of Porto Rico; Dr. Alexander Lambert, Jacob A. Kils, Dr. Riecke, former surgeon general of the navy; Lawrence Abbott, W. Emilen Roosevelt and his son, Philip, William Leach, Jr., Gilson Gardner, A. Curtis, O. K. Davis, Frank Tyler, John O'Loughlin and James Sloan. All of these are to be witnesses.

PETTY CONTENTION

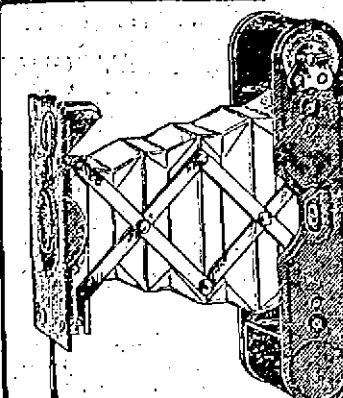

In Which the Commissioner of Finance Apparently Overstepped His Authority

Commissioner Brown, apparently mistaking the status and authority of Purchasing Agent Foye, ordered him not to use the department horse without his, Mr. Brown's, permission. Mr. Foye said he would use the horse whenever he required to do so in the performance of his official duties. Commissioner Brown gave orders at Sparks' stable, where the horse is kept, not to let Foye use the animal. The stable keeper obeyed the commissioner, but Agent Foye refused to approve the bill for the horse's board. Dr. Sparks then decided to let Foye not touch the horse until the bill was paid. Mr. Brown relented; Foye is using the horse, and Dr. Sparks' bill has been approved.

DAUGHTER OF TODAY

Original Play by Miss Devine at Opera House On Wednesday Evening, May 29

The Opera House will not be big enough to hold all the people who want to see the presentation of Miss Devine's play "Daughter of Today." On Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Lowell Teachers organization. Most of the seats are sold in advance and those who wish to see the performance will have to speak quickly. It is creditable to the teachers that they not only can write a play, but present it in its entirety in first class style.

THE MOFFATT PENSION

Supreme Court Decides in His Favor

BOSTON, May 26.—The full bench of the supreme court today decided that a superintendent of police is a member of the department just as a general is a member of his army, and so is entitled to the benefit of the retiring pension law for police officers. The court also held that the recipient of the pension need not reside in the city of his former activities so long as he holds himself in readiness for an emergency by keeping his whereabouts known to the superintendent of police.

The decision affirmed the judgment of a single justice and ordered a mandamus issued to compel Mayor James E. O'Donnell of Lowell to sign warrants permitting former Supt. of Police William B. Moffatt to receive his pension money.

The mayor had refused to sign these warrants since December 31, 1911, on the ground that Mr. Moffatt as head of the department was not entitled to a pension and moreover because he was now living in Saskatchewan.

DIST. ATTORNEY HIGGINS

Was Here Today on Legal Business

District Attorney John J. Higgins of Middlesex county was in this city this morning, but his business had to do with a land case in Wilmington. He came here for the purpose of having a jury drawn for the said case in order that it might take a view of the premises before the trial which is scheduled for Wednesday of this week. The case is an action of contract brought by Frank W. Coughlin of Brookline against Lawrence C. Swain of Wilmington. The plaintiff claims he recently purchased a large tract of land in Wilmington and now he sues for the recovery of the money paid, on the ground that the land is not as it was represented. The jury was drawn and the juryman were immediately taken to Wilmington where a view of the premises will be taken. Attorney John J. Higgins appears for the plaintiff, while Messrs. McIntire and Wilson of this city represent the defendant.

UNKNOWN MAN

Body Found in Canal Not Identified—Was Recovered On Saturday Night by Two Boys

The body of an unknown man was found in the canal in the rear of the Richardson hotel Saturday night by Charles Bernard and Charles Boudreau, two boys living in Middlesex place. The body was caught in the rocks and it required considerable efforts to extricate it from its position.

It was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers F. F. O'Donnell & Sons, but at the time of going to press it had not been identified. The man was about 50 years of age, had a dark mustache and was dressed in overalls, black cotton shirt and heavy congress shoes.

Have Color In Your Cheeks—Be Better Looking—Try Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

These Olive Tablets oil the bowels—yet have no oily taste. They are a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil.

If you want a clear pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood—days, you must get the cause. Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels—like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects. They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

"Every Little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

FIRE DESTROYED CALGARY ARENA

Club Where McCarty
Was Killed Burned
to Ground

Believed to Have Been Started by Incendiaries

CALGARY, Alberta, May 26.—The fire which last night destroyed the prize fight arena in which Luther McCarty was killed Saturday afternoon in a fight with Arthur Pelky is believed by the authorities to have been started by incendiaries. An investigation is being made. The arena building, owned by Tommy Burns was completely destroyed, the fire having gained such headway when it was discovered at 11 p. m. that it was impossible to save any of the structure. Four deaths were narrowly averted. Wesley Benson, his wife and two children were asleep in a room at one corner of the building and they escaped just in time. The loss is covered by insurance.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Merrimack Square Theatre

If the reason for the large attendance at the Merrimack Square theatre for the past two weeks was due to the excellent bills which were found there at that time, then the ones for the coming week's series should be equally as large. For "The White Choker," which is the attraction, is every bit as compelling though of an entirely different nature. Miss Grace Young will be seen in the title role, that of "Cassandra," the Dominican nun, and as much as this is a play in which she has appeared in over seven months on the road her portrayal of the character should be par excellence. The other different members of the company will all be seen to especially good advantage, while an elaborate production in every way is promised. The latest photo-plays are also shown. Seats for Decoration day now.

Theatre Voyons

Kipling's great poem, "The Vampire," forms the motive for "The Vampire of the Desert," a two reel photo-play shown today at the Theatre Voyons. It is staged with unusual care by the Vitagraph company and in its cast are Helen Gardner, Leah Baird, Ted Johnson, Harry More, James Morrison and Flora Finch. Another vitagraph, a comedy, "Counsellor Bobby," bringing plenty of laughs for it is played by Paul Kelley, James Lackaye, Florence Turner and Courtney Foote.

The Casino

The habit of dancing, properly acquired, is beneficial, for dancing tends to grace of the body and is a healthful exercise. Who Is Forced to Move
To a Much Larger Store to Accommodate His Ever Increasing Business

Nearly a year ago when we opened our Lowell Branch, the "Knockers" and the "Great Piano Trust" got busy and said we couldn't make good and wouldn't stay 6 months. They were going to shut our doors and keep on selling their own "Trust Pianos" to you good people of Lowell at fabulous prices. We had to laugh—We had heard such things before. So we paid attention to our own business, and now less than a year from the day we came, we are forced to move to a larger store. And thus, as always, is the "Biter Bit."

We Must be Out of this Store by June 1

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Whether one regards the imminent tariff revision in its essence as being ultimately advantageous to the prosperity of the country, or the contrary, the fact that there is a difference of opinion concerning it does not constitute a logical argument for its condemnation. We are well acquainted with the discontent that arises because of some privilege withdrawn. The school teacher who desires that in the best interests of education he must cancel some existing unnecessary privilege which the pupils had enjoyed until it seemed their inalienable right, usually meets with a great deal of harsh criticism from those affected. When we add to that the abuse he is liable to get from the parents, brothers, sisters, friends, and sympathizers of the pupils, it may be readily perceived that a storm of protest might arise which, however, would have no direct bearing on the right or wrong of the principle involved.

This situation is duplicated partly in present tariff conditions. Manufacturers have enjoyed certain privileges, which were a benefit to them as a unit but were detrimental to the prosperity of the country. When the people, acting through the government, thought that these had gone far enough, and resolved to put an end to it, those who had enjoyed the right cried out against the measure which would end tariff abuses, and behold! many hearings these cries of complaint say "Business does not want it," and argue from the prophecies of those who selfishly denounce it that it can bring nothing but injury to the country. These selfish warnings do not necessarily prove anything as to the danger of the proposed law.

In his recent speech in the house, Speaker Clark gave utterance to a few vital truths with regard to difference of opinion. He spoke of this difference as being voiced by republican politicians rather than by manufacturers, but probably the gentlemen who gave utterance to them meant to convey the protest of business interests as they understood them, or pretended to understand them. In the speaker's words, "Now, the doctors disagree on the republican side of the house. The gentleman from Wisconsin says it is a protective measure. The gentleman from Pennsylvania and the gentleman from Wyoming have made 200 speeches apiece in the discussion of this bill to demonstrate that it is a free-trade measure. When doctors disagree, what are we going to do? We stand for a tariff for revenue only. That is the democratic doctrine, always has been the democratic doctrine, and always will be the democratic doctrine until it is fully realized and accomplished."

A little later on he drove home a telling thrust as to the fallacy of basing tariff considerations on difference of opinion. In his own words, "The gentleman from New York—Mr. Payne—says that some people do not like some things in this bill. Of course they do not. I would like to get him on the witness stand and swear him, and cross-examine him as to whether he liked his own bill or not in every particular."

PROTECT THE IMMIGRANT

The meeting of the North American civic league, on Friday night brought out some interesting truths bearing on immigrant problems, not the least important of which is the great amount of good that the people of America might do in seeing that the interests of foreigners coming to our shores are properly respected. President Brewer of the league stated that fully 50 per cent of them fall into the hands of rascals who speak their language, and are robbed or otherwise abused. Because of their ignorance of our language and customs they are practically helpless, and the treatment they receive makes them join the ranks of the discontented, and prepares them for the wiles of the socialist and extreme labor agitator.

The helpless condition of the average immigrant ought to be a sufficient strong argument for an improvement in this respect, but there is also a selfish reason why protection given the immigrant at his arrival would bear a fruitful harvest of good. Any hardship which foreigners suffer when they land on our shores will be attributed by them to laxity in our laws, or to our unsympathetic attitude towards them. It is not right that they should so regard it, but if the order of things were reversed and Americans sought liberty and happiness on distant shores, our viewpoint would not be very different. This discontent will have an injurious effect on the character of the foreigner, and as the immigrants of today are to be the fathers of the citizens of tomorrow, the indifference which would let them so severely alone is shortsighted and unwise. Make them love and respect America, and they will return our kindness a hundredfold in patriotic devotion.

If the attendance at the civic league meeting could be taken as an estimate of Lowell interest in our immigrant population, we are guilty of the most profound indifference. Probably weather conditions had something to do with the small number present, and it would be hardly fair to ascribe the absence of those who were invited by the superintendent of schools, to any other than accidental reasons. We are not at all slow in expressing what we expect from foreigners but it must not be forgotten that we, too, owe them duties in the name of our common humanity, and in the proper understanding of our own best interests. The North American civic league has already done splendid work elsewhere and they stand ready to do the same work here with the co-operation of the public and particularly the school department. There is absolutely no reason why they should not receive this co-operation in its fullest measure.

CHILD LABOR

The country-wide agitation which was brought about by the employment of children in the canning industries of New York and the ironment industries of Massachusetts, has resulted in new prohibitive laws in many states, and as a result of the investigations of child labor committees, public opinion in Massachusetts has crystallized, and a new uniform child labor bill has now been reported in our legislature by the committee on social welfare.

This child labor bill covers many phases of the evil. It prohibits the employment of children in dangerous occupations; it prohibits night work for those under sixteen; it extends to large cities the Boston system of licensing street traders; it forbids the employment of those under fourteen in any regular commercial industry. It aims to meet the loopholes by which children have been employed despite the present prohibitive legislation. It will prevent the employment of children in the mills as "learners"; it will prevent the sending of work from the factory to the home; it will shorten the working hours of children who are old enough to work in the mills.

The proposed law seems a comprehensive one, and the members of the legislature will have a chance to show if the conservation of life and health are as important in the eyes of the legislators of this state as they are in the eyes of the many which have recently adopted like laws. If the health of the child is affected the man will not be very useful, and the arguments against child labor are as strongly economic as they are humanitarian. If we cannot be prosperous without crippling and stunting the lives of the young, we don't deserve to be prosperous.

THE TWO STATUES

White peace celebrations and mutual felicitations over the 100 years of peace between America and England are commendable, some of the suggestions offered as a means of celebrating this peace in the past, and ensuring its continuance for the future, savor of sickly sentimentality, and will not find a ready acceptance in the hearts of the people of America—or for that matter in the hearts of the people of England. Of such a nature is the proposed scheme to erect a statue of Lincoln in London and a statue of the late Queen Victoria in Washington. The energy expended in this meaningless show of empty sentiment might well be directed in England in quelling some of the scenes that are enacted near the London statues of Victoria, and if statues are of value a few more of Lincoln might be set up on this side of the water with advantage. England is England and America is America, and no exchange of statues will destroy the individuality of the two nations. Just as well propose an exchange of the declaration of Independence and the Magna Charta.

MODESTY IN DRESS

The extreme fashions of the day are being blamed in some quarters for much of the laxity in public morals which recent vice investigations are keeping before the public. Although undoubtedly the recent tendency in dress has been running along the lines of sexual suggestion, most of the styles are more liable to offend against good taste and beauty of line than against good morals. But there are those who say that what offends against beauty is pretty sure to offend against goodness, notwithstanding the fact that the costume of the "extreme beauties of the Venus de Milo period is quite out of the question for modern usage. The average woman is not troubled over the fact that her dress may be slightly daring but she is pretty sure to insist on its being "the very latest."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Marriage and Divorce

Lawrence Sun: Those who have made a study of the divorce evil have learned that much of it is founded on the marriage evil. Too easy marriage leads to divorce. Flippantness, darea, joy riding, arguments, divorce marriages, too youthful marriages, are all fraught with the potency of divorce. It would seem that the best way for the church to emphasize the sacredness of marriage would be for its ministers to refuse to perform the ceremony in any such cases. A safe rule would be for a minister to refuse to perform the ceremony unless he knew personally at least one of the parties and was entirely satisfied all the conditions were proper and calculated to make the marriage a good one.

Pure Logic

Manchester Union: Commenting on the fact that the red flag has been banned in Massachusetts, the Johnston Democrat says that "after all, it is the flag that a man carries in his heart that counts." But if he flaunts the red flag in the face of the world, that's a fair indication of the kind of dog he carries in his heart, isn't it?

Public Makers

Johnston Democrat: The man who runs a disaster when there is no disaster rolls the great bank of credit upon which all men must draw. He steals faith upon which all enterprises that look to the future must rest. He blights hope without which great undertakings are impossible. There may be a man here and there who would welcome hard times simply to "get something on the democrat." Such a man weighs party advantage against the well being of his country and decides in favor of party advantage. Woodrow Wilson has declared that "public makers" deserve to be hanged higher than Haman. But even such a gallows is a bit too low. The public maker deserves a deeper drop.

Washington Stunts

Lynn News: Mrs. Woodrow Wilson seems to be giving considerable impetus to a movement to clean up the city of Washington. Her position and her interest should count for a good deal in such a matter. And if she can succeed, she will have performed a national service. Washington is disreputable by some of the meanest stunts to be found in any American city. For this the citizens can only be held partly to blame, inasmuch as they have little or no voice in the affairs of their city.

Japanese Jingles

Newport News: The anti-American agitation in Japan has given place in the public mind in that country to solicitation regarding the emperor's illness. The war talk is confined to the political opponents of the present ministry, and the government newspapers are calling attention to the impossibility of entering the war because of the financial condition of the country.

SEVERAL FIRE ALARMS

Called Out Department Since Saturday

A blaze which was found very hard to extinguish, broke out last night about 11:15 in the frame building at 517-521 Middlesex street, owned by Lydia A. Fisher and occupied by the Eastern market, Shepard Mission and a shoe shine parlor. A service was in progress at the time the alarm was sounded and all were greatly startled to see the flames creeping up the walls of the building, but fortunately the alarm had been sounded in time and all had ample opportunity to escape. Little damage was done by the flames, although the smoke poured out of the building in dense volumes for nearly an hour. The loss has not yet been estimated.

Several small fires Saturday night and Sunday called out the fire department and a alarm was sounded last night for a blaze in Page's new structure next to the Sun building. The ovens were being tried out and the woodwork being too close to the stove stack caught fire. The fire was extinguished by the application of the chemical. The damage was slight.

CIRCUS STEWARD TALKS

Gives Some Interesting Hints on the High Cost of Living—Circus Here on Wednesday, June 11

Alfred L. Webb, steward of Ringling Brothers' circus, which is to visit Lowell on Wednesday, June 11, throws some interesting light on the present high cost of living. A talk with him would do much to open the eyes of the housekeeper, as well as the voter, to true conditions in this country.

Mr. Webb has been the steward of this circus for 15 years, and has the reputation of keeping the best cook tent in the circus business. Almost every circus chef has been trained under him and what he does not know about marketing and market conditions is scarcely worth knowing.

"It costs me only one cent more for each person in serving a meal for the circus than it did 15 years ago," says Mr. Webb. "I know from the running expenses of my home that the cost of living has increased 50 per cent in the last 10 years. But you see we of the circus escape this advance in a large measure, because we have cut out the middle man. There you have your whole trouble—the middleman. He is the one who is making all the hard ships in this country—also the money. By middlemen I mean those who stand between the consumer and the producer—commission merchants, cold storage firms, particularly the men who speculate in the necessities of life, the stock gambler and the jobber.

"Food should be cheap enough in this country for anybody; it is not properly distributed, that's all. The law will have to help out by cutting the middleman, but the housekeeper can do much, arrange fairly. By telephone, the delivery man brings the food, the hired girl receives it, and the housekeeper does not know either its condition or its weight. If the women who run homes would visit the markets as I do, and study prices and foods, they would find their bills greatly reduced. They should not go to just one market, but to several, so they would have a line on prices. Prices fluctuate accordingly. If pork is high today, I buy veal, and vice versa. If both are high, I buy mutton. I look at what I buy, and I know what I am looking at. The market basket is a money saver."

MAY ESCAPE MERCURY DEATH

W. L. McCutcheon of Chicago Who Took Dichloride, Told That He May Recover

CHICAGO, May 25.—W. L. McCutcheon, an automobile salesman, who took three bichloride of mercury tablets by mistake and whom doctors Saturday thought was sentenced to death, received his reprieve yesterday. Physicians, after an examination and consultation at the hospital decided that McCutcheon had eliminated most of the poison from his stomach before it had entered the intestine, concluded that in all probability he would recover.

McCutcheon was taken to his home last night. It will be necessary to watch his condition closely for several days, however, the crisis arising when the residue of the poison passes through the kidneys.

The automobile salesman suffered little yesterday. He retained his consciousness and was cheered by the report of the doctors. Frequently he discussed the case and asked for "Max Winslow's Soothing Syrup," which he had taken last week from the same poison, accidentally taken.

REST AND HEALTH TO MOTHER AND CHILD.

Max Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over SIXTY YEARS BY MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE SUFFERING WITH COLIC, SCALD RASH, DIARRHOEA, ALLAYS ALL PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHOEA. It is absolutely harmless. It is sold and sold for "Max Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Roll of Dead Shows 50
Passed Away During Year

MAYOR JAMES E. O'DONNELL

The First Congregational church in Merrimack street was the scene, Sunday afternoon, of a beautiful and impressive memorial service. It was the annual gathering of the Grand Army posts of Lowell, a gathering that grows smaller yet more impressive as the years advance.

The chairman of the day was Earl A. Thibault, commander of Post 42. Thomas O'Regan and J. Henry Caverly commanded Posts 120 and 185. The music was by the first chorus choir of the church, Frank Brown Murphy, director, Miss Ella Leona Gale, organist.

The exercises were opened by the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers." James O'Sullivan read General Order No. 11; Rev. C. A. Lincoln read the scriptures, and the choir sang "Lead Kindly Light." The invocation was by Rev. Raymond C. Clapp and the roll of the dead was read by Adjutants Worthen, Butler and Co. burn, of the three G. A. R. posts. Solon W. Stevens, Esq., and stanzas were sung by the choir and audience, with organ accompaniment. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. T. L. Frost.

Following the reading of the entire list a requiem was sung by a quartet and "To Thee, O Country," was sung by the chorus choir.

Rev. Appleton Francis, of St. Anne's church, read Lincoln's famous address at Gettysburg, and prayer was offered by Rev. Charles E. Davis. There was a very fine address by Mayor James E. O'Donnell and a splendid oration by Rev. Edward H. Newcomb. After the oration, "America" was read by Solon W. Stevens, Esq., and stanzas were sung by the choir and audience, with organ accompaniment. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. T. L. Frost.

Mayor O'Donnell's Address

Mayor James E. O'Donnell said:

Comrades of the G. A. R. and Ladies and Gentlemen:

Half a century has rolled by since the sturdy men of Lowell, in response to their president's call, led an entire nation to the scene of the greatest conflict the world has ever known. Half a century has passed since the men of Lowell shed the first patriot blood offered for the defense of the world's greatest government, our own impetuous Union.

Over five thousand Lowell men enlisted in the Civil War and of these, three hundred and fifty-seven met death in the service. Of the number who returned, only by one, like the sands in the great hour-glass of time, they have fallen and passed on, until today in Lowell only two hundred and fifty veterans of the war remain. On Friday next, some of these few survivors perhaps will parade the streets of Lowell for the last time. While in a few years more, the last trail of gold that still outlingers the sunset of the war will have gone down behind the horizon; death's grim courier will have sounded the final "taps"; the night of history will have closed upon the war and that noble organization whose falling and shattered ranks thrill all hearts with love and patriotism—the G. A. R.—will have become one of memory's treasures, to be kept ever green for all time, even as its members for fifty-two long years have kept green the memory of their comrades who have gone before.

The first to respond to the country's call were Lowell men. Should not every true Lowellian feel proud and grateful for the position taken by the citizens of Lowell of the past generation, in that greatest of wars. Men of Lowell yet unborn will read in history's pages of the conspicuous part played by their city in the Civil war, and will envy us of the present generation who were privileged to live with and to know the heroes of the great tragedy of '61.

It is not my purpose to dwell upon the war itself, as the story of that unprecedented conflict, unparalleled in the history of the world, is well known to us all. It has well been said that the brightest glory of the war for the Union was the self-conquest of the north in the day of victory. No other nation ever honored the dead of the enemy in common with their own and decorated their graves with flowers. As John Boyle O'Reilly in an address to the G. A. R. once said, "No nation ever before refused to celebrate its triumphs. England celebrates Waterloo, Germany celebrates the Sedan, Russia celebrates Plevna, but, except in silent thanksgiving, America will never celebrate Gettysburg. Sorrow usually follows glory, but here sorrow and glory went hand in hand." No, America's only Civil war day will be Memorial day on which, as long as the republic endures, America will honor the memory of her sons who fought and fell in the great struggle of '61, those who fought for the right, and those who fought for the cause they thought was right.

Each American holiday commemorates, or is dedicated to some sublime or lofty cause or event, and there is none more sweetly impressive than Memorial day which, while nominally dedicated to the soldiers of the Civil war, has become a day upon which is felt the great touch of nature that makes all mankind akin; when we realize with Irving that, "there is a remembrance of the dead to which we turn even from the charms of the living," when rich and poor alike turn aside from their daily avocations, and with garlands and blossoms retreat to the graves of their loved ones. You have taught us to venerate the dead. You have turned away the gloomy aspect of the graveyard and have transformed it into a shrine; the redolence of your flowers, beautifully typifying the fragrant memory in which you hold your departed comrades. Memorial day, gentlemen, will ever be observed in your honor and memory, for we are bound, for the perpetuation of high principles of patriotism among the people, for the education of the young, for the honor of America and the glory of humanity, to honor and cherish the declining years of the brave men who offered their lives to keep this republic united, and to perpetuate the memory of those who have already passed on.

The American republic represents the highest form of civilization, and as such it must steadily advance. At the time of its birth the patriots farmers who "fired the shot heard 'round the world" proved competent to uphold it during the period of its infancy. Over half a century afterward, when its very foundation was threatened, you men whom we honor today arose to the momentous occasion and after a bloody struggle of four years' duration preserved its unity and brought it forth to a state of perfection hitherto undreamed of. And so it shall go for all time. Whenever that flag goes, that you fought so nobly to defend, we of the present and future shall follow. Wherever it has gone there has been greater independence, greater nationality, greater opportunities and greater happiness. It has never been defeated and the republic it represents has never been forced to retreat. We who are to succeed you pledge you to keep alive that great spirit of patriotism which actuated you to sacrifice life, business and home for the preservation of the Union, and to instill into the minds of the citizens yet to come the noble lesson taught by you and the comrades whose memory you honor today.

The Son of a Veteran
Rev. Edw. H. Newcomb delivered a fine oration. He said he was in sympathy with the veterans of the Grand Army, and it was natural that he should be in sympathy with them. His own father having been a Union soldier. Mr. Newcomb said, in part: "Friday has been set apart as a memorial to those who laid their lives upon the altar in defense of this country. We have met together here today in order that we may, be better prepared for the proper observance of that day. We have gathered on this holy day, within walls which have echoed the praises of God for many years, here to pray that his blessing will so rest upon us that we shall understand what it means to be one in spirit, one in gratitude, one in aspiration; to the end that the coming formalities of Memorial day may be illumined with a glory of true patriotism; to the end that the tendency 'may' be checked, to make this national holy day an unholy holiday.

"We are steadily pressing forward, but ever and anon it becomes us to stop and look backward. From our vantage point we have a panoramic view of the field over which we have come and over which those who preceded us have come. From the time when the pilgrims landed on this bleak New England coast to the present time, what a wonderful history, what a wonderful pilgrimage! Let us thank God and take courage!

"The message of today naturally is to you veterans. No true American would attempt to deny to you the satisfaction which comes to you when you feel that you did a constructive work, a work that was essential to American liberty, to American progress. All through these 50 years you have had that satisfaction. Whether you did a small service or a large service, it was a permanent service. Take that satisfaction, keep it, let it abide with you. But amid all the memories and inspirations of this memorial season, let me call your attention to that which I believe you will acknowledge is vital—the permanence of thought and the permanence of allegiance to our God, the God of our fathers, the same God, who manifested himself in the early history of our country, the same God to whom Washington prayed and upon whom Washington depended. The same God who watched over the destinies of this nation from 1661 to 1865 has been watching over you ever since. You have come to the evening of life. May the same God so reveal himself to you, and may your allegiance be so strong, that the light of his glory will shine forth every day, and you may be expected to be true to your God, as he has been true to you. May the light of his inspiration and revelation light up these closing years of your life. This was the consolation of that old Christian warrior, St. Paul. O, how suggestive! 'I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith. Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness.' St. Paul had more to look forward to than all the glory and all the achievement of the past; and so do you veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic. Great has been your achievement; so make your allegiance to God of such a character that the future will hold out to you that which is far more glorious than even could have been contained in the past.

"But the message also is to those of the younger generation. The battle of today is not necessarily a military conflict, but nevertheless it is a struggle, a fight to secure that which has been handed down to us, that which would make this country better. It depends upon us. We are too prone to forget the days gone by. O, may this season bring to us that revelation and that spirit which will arouse us to an appreciation of what it all meant, and what it all cost! With such a heritage as ours, may we be fearful lest we forget—lest we forget!

We must not let this occasion pass without emphasizing the spirit of true union, not simply the conquest of a nation, but a united nation; that spirit which actuated the emperor, who, when reminded, after his victory, that he had sworn to destroy his enemies, said, 'Have I not done so? They are no longer my enemies, they are my friends!'

MEMORIAL SERVICE

At St. Paul's Church—Many Seats Were Occupied by Veterans and Other Guests

St. Paul's M. E. church in Hurd street was the scene Sunday morning of a patriotic service that was most inspiring. The church was prettily decorated and standing room was at a premium.

Ladd & Whitney post, 155, G. A. R., Admiral Farragut camp, Sons of Veterans, Ladd & Whitney circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., and Mary E. Smith tent, Daughters of Veterans, were the guests of honor, and there were also delegates from James A. Garfield Women's Relief corps, 31.

Presentation of Flag
A pretty feature of the occasion was the presentation of a handsome flag to the Sunday school by two delegates from James A. Garfield Relief corps. President Mrs. Lestina E. Parker and Mrs. A. F. Kilpatrick, the latter making the presentation speech. Assistant Superintendent N. J. Marcotte of the Sunday school accepted the flag in behalf of the school.

The military organizations were greeted as they entered the aisles with a burst of martial music and as soon as they were seated the "Star Spangled Banner" was sung, the chorus choir leading the singing with Peter Pickens as leader. Mrs. Gertrude Pratt Hutchinson, cornetist, joined in all the music of the service, sounding "Taps" at the close, just before the benediction.

The military organizations were but in large numbers and enjoyed the service to the utmost. It was all patriotic from start to finish. The Sunday school children joined, two of them, Violet Mooney and Evelyn Deberry, singing a solo part to one of the anthems, and all the anthems were patriotic in type. Rev. George W. King, the pastor, in opening his sermon, referred to a tradition of St. Paul's church, of which the church is proud. This church was the first to throw Old Glory to the breeze after the burning of the British flag in '61. That flag was the church, draped over the small organ and the pastor said the church keeps it as a sacred relic.

Calvary Baptist Church
Members of Companies K, G and C, Sixth regiment, and Company M, Ninth regiment, M. V. M., attended a memorial service at Calvary Baptist church last night, and enjoyed a remembrance talk by Capt. T. F. Gardner, a veteran of the Civil war.

Capt. Gardner participated in the battle of the Wilderness, and other

LAWRENCE AGAIN DEFEATS LOWELL

Manager Pieper's Team Trimmed
Gray's Outfit Before Big Crowd
Saturday Afternoon

The down river league leaders and champions came here Saturday and their presence was the chief inducement for the large crowd of about 2,000 fans who made tracks for Spaulding park to see the two old rivals clash.

At the outset the weather man appeared to frown on the ball players and fans and it looked as though there was destined to be another postponement. However, by burning gasoline about the bases and other places in the infield, the grounds were gotten into fair shape, though far from favorable for fast play. At third and near first the land was pretty moist while in the outfield there were several puddles of fish pond proportions.

First Inning
Carlstrom struck out and O'Connell went out by the Anderson to Halstein route. Bruggy poked a Texas leaguer to right field. Luyster hit a hot one to Deo, which he went after and which hit him in the neck and bounced to Anderson. Anderson made a fake motion of throwing to first and caught Bruggy off second.

Clemens opened for the home team with three empty swings and DeGroff was retired in the same undignified manner. Miller hit through the short stop but was caught off first by Martin to Carlstrom, the latter throwing to second where Miller was nulled.

Score—Lawrence 0, Lowell 0.

Second Inning
Mahoney and Phoenix were both put away by Barron to Halstein and Carg fanned.

Magee was put away by Carg to Carlstrom and Halstein was out by Phoenix to Carlstrom. Monahan was safe at first when Carg juggled his grounder and Deo retired the side by flying out to O'Connell.

Score—Lawrence 0, Lowell 0.

Third Inning
Bryemaler was put away by Barron to Halstein and Barron retired Martin on a close play to Halstein. Carlstrom flied out to DeGroff.

Anderson hit safely and Monahan scored his place on the bases. Barron laid down a bunt along the third base line and Mahoney fielding it, threw wildly to first. Monahan scored and Barron reached third base. Clemens was retired by Phoenix to Carlstrom and DeGroff struck out. Miller hit to left center, scoring Barron. Magee flied to Phoenix.

Score—Lawrence 0, Lowell 2.

Fourth Inning
O'Connell got the first pass handed out in the game and he was forced out at second by Barron to Miller when Bruggy grounded to the Lowell pitcher. Bruggy safe, fielder's choice. Luyster then pitched the ball over the left field fence for a home run, scoring Bruggy and himself, and tying the score. Mahoney flied out to Anderson and Phoenix fanned.

Halstein grounded out to Carlstrom. Monahan popped out to Phoenix, and Deo hit safely to center field. Anderson hit to the short stop who threw to Phoenix, forcing out Deo.

Score—Lawrence 2, Lowell 2.

Fifth Inning
Carg was put away by Barron to Halstein, Bryemaler flied to Monahan and Martin put up a high one which Miller gathered in.

Barron fanned and Clemens hit to center field. DeGroff fanned for the third successive time and Miller closed by fouling a high one to Bryemaler.

Score—Lawrence 2, Lowell 2.

Sixth Inning
Carlstrom hit a three-bagger to left center field and scored on O'Connell's hit to right field. O'Connell, however, was thrown out at second by De Groff to Barron. Miller, Bruggy fanned. Luyster came across with a triple to left center and scored when Anderson fumbled Mahoney's grounder. Phoenix flied out to Clemens.

Magee flied to Bruggy, Halstein out, Phoenix to Carlstrom, and Monahan flied out to Carlstrom.

Score—Lawrence 4, Lowell 2.

Seventh Inning
Carg hit a high one to Clemens and Bryemaler was given a ticket to first. Martin hit to Barron and was easily thrown out to Halstein, advancing Bryemaler to second, and Carlstrom fanned.

Deo walked and went to third when Anderson hit to right field. Luyster drove a liner to the pitcher which the latter caught and threw to Carlstrom for a double. Clemens flied out to Mahoney.

Score—Lawrence 4, Lowell 2.

Eighth Inning
O'Connell opened with a double to right field and went to third when Bruggy went out. Deo to Halstein. Luyster singled to right, scoring O'Connell, and stole second. Mahoney was put away by Anderson to Halstein. Phoenix drove the ball to center field and Luyster crossed the plate for another run. Carg walked and Bryemaler flied out to Clemens.

DeGroff flied out to Mahoney; Miller out, Carg to Carlstrom. Magee hit for two bases along the third base foul line. Halstein hit to Carg who made a poor throw to first and Halstein was safe. Monahan got to third on the play. Monahan hit a single to right, scoring Magee. Halstein being held at second. Deo hit the ball a foot in front of the plate and Martin threw him out.

DEE PLAYING A GREAT GAME

Diminutive Third Baseman One of Lowell's Stars

"Shorty" Dee, Lowell's diminutive short stop of last year who is playing the hot corner this season, has been playing a great game for the local club this year. He has improved wonderfully in every department of the game over his work of last year. When he came to Lowell in the middle of last season he had never played professional ball before. This fact, however, did not bar the little fellow from entering his first game with all the ginger and life that an old timer, whose experience had lent confidence to, would be expected to have and his initial performance here at once caught the fancy of the fans. Today there are few third basemen in any class B league who have anything on "Shorty" when it comes to fielding his position and whipping the sphere over to first base and although his batting average is excelled by several his hits are timely. Taking everything into consideration the Lowell team is mighty fortunate to have the services of this player this season.

SET OF TRIPLETS BORN

Two Girls and a Boy at a Birth

LYNN, May 26.—Triplets were born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Christopher J. Keane of 132 Alley street. The three children were living last night, but there is some apprehension that the boy, the smallest of the trio, will not survive. Two girls, weighing six pounds each, and the boy, weighing four pounds and a half, were born just after daylight. The girls seemed to Mrs. E. T. Manix and P. C. Devlin, the attending physicians to be healthy and giving evidence of becoming thriving infants, but the boy did not seem to have the vitality of his sisters. Mrs. Keane was reported by the physicians to be out of danger. The father is a laborer and was overjoyed at the announcement of the doctors that his wife had given birth to triplets.

YANKEES GET PECKINPAUGH

Manager Frank Chance Secures Cleveland Shortstop in Trade For Stump and Lelivelt

NEW YORK, May 26.—The trade by which Shortstop Peckinpaugh came from the Cleveland club to the New York Yankees in exchange for Infielder Stump and Outfielder Lelivelt is expected by Manager Chance to plug the long existing gap at short in the Yankees' infield. Derrick, Stump and McKechnie have been tried successively but none has solved the shortstop problem.

In Peckinpaugh the Yankees have obtained a player with a fielding record of .974 for Cleveland last year. His batting average was .212.

The Cleveland club will be the fourth club in the American league in which Lelivelt has seen much service. He started out with the Athletics, then went to Washington, from which city he was sent to Rochester. He was brought to New York last season.

MAN ARRAIGNED FOR LARCENY

He Stole $52 From Aiken Street Store

Man Created Rumpus On So. Lowell

Car

Accused of the larceny of $52 from Eitzar Leduc, Henry Hopkins was arraigned before Judge Enright in the police court this morning and requested a continuance of his case in order to give him an opportunity of engaging counsel. There is quite a story connected with the affair. On Saturday, it is said, Hopkins presented himself at the furniture store of Mr. Leduc in Aiken street to pay something on a standing bill which he owed. He paid a dollar on the bill and then announced a desire to purchase some rugs. On a pile of rugs in the store was the sum of $52 seemingly almost crying out for some one to adopt it. A short time later, Hopkins left the store and another short time and the money was missed and word sent to the police headquarters. Immediately inspectors were sent out on the case and finally succeeded in locating Hopkins, who was distinguished from the ordinary citizen by the fact that his trousers were tucked down into a pair of high shoes. He was waiting for a Dracut car and after being assured of his identity, the inspectors dispatched him to the police station.

Hopkins expressed a willingness to swear on a stack of bibles that he did not take the money and informed Chief Welch that he was committing an outrage and that it was the biggest mistake he ever made. The man had about seven dollars and a box of groceries and a trip ticket, or mileage. He claimed that he had gotten the groceries on credit and that the mileage had been purchased by his wife some weeks previously. So vehemently did he protest his innocence of the theft that Capt. Welch began to have his doubts and to wonder if it were not possible that the money had fallen into other hands. Inspector Maher went out and gathered the information that the groceries had been paid for and that the man had bought the mileage on the same day. He then returned and again the man was questioned. He found that there was no use in denying that he took the money and admitted his guilt.

A Regular Dad Man

From the story heard in the court this morning, it would appear that one Peter Richards is a noisy character when drunk. On Saturday evening, the story goes, he furnished a merry ten minutes to the passengers on a South Lowell car. This morning he was charged first with drunkenness, second with assault and battery on Officer John Conway, and finally with disorderly conduct in a street car. To all derly conduct, it seems that Richards had taken on considerably too much fuel. The officers said that he cursed and swore on the car in spite of the fact that the conductor remonstrated with him and tried to quiet him. Finally the conductor called Officer Conway to pull the man off the car and when the policeman started in, Richards put up a stubborn fight, striking and kicking the officer, who

CLEVELAND BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK

Unfortunately tripped and sprained his ankle. For the assault, Richards was sentenced to serve five months in the house of correction and an additional 30 days for the disorderly conduct. The charge of drunkenness was filed against him.

Appeared Daily Used

John J. Condon, the complainant against Ulisse Macrelli, who he said assaulted him, looked as if he had been roughly used by some one, for there were marks on his face which were not produced by affectionate caresses. He stated that he and the defendant had an argument over domestic affairs on Saturday night in Gorham street and that in the end Macrelli jumped upon him, threw him down and struck his head against the sidewalk, besides striking him in the face. The prisoner had a story that did not coincide, but Condon had a witness who corroborated his tale. Macrelli was fined $12.

A Novel Case

A novel case was that of one John Rotwell (alias), who was in court charged with giving false statements in hiring a horse and carriage from Arthur D. Humphrey. He missed a car and was late for the session. He was given a special trial and the case was filed.

Two Vagrants

There were two vagrants who appeared to have requested shelter. They were Wallace Wilcox and John O'Toole and both were sent to the state farm.

Total Absentees (From Water)

There were several of that sort who are agreed upon one characteristic of water, namely, that it is fine to sail boats on and to build bridges over. They seem, however, equally agreed on the fact that as a beverage, it is in the "has been" class. Of these, John Mougham and Mary Trainor, a couple who were found in an intoxicated condition in a room in Taylor street, were fined $10 each. John Lindsay, William Wilson and William H. Summers were each fined $5, and Lindsay, who is a good worker, was given two weeks in which to settle. John J. Smith was sentenced to the state farm, and Catherine Clifford, who only Friday was allowed to saunter forth from the halloved walls of the jail, was given a suspended sentence to the state farm.

French Government Acts

PARIS, May 25.—Energetic action was taken by the French government in the anti-military demonstrations of yesterday, today when eighty offices of the General Confederation of Labor and labor exchanges in Paris and all the provincial cities were occupied by the police. All the documents found in the bureaux were seized by order of the government which intends to prosecute on charges of sedition the organizers of recent demonstrations among the soldiers against the newly introduced three years term of service in the active army.

That's Why

If you are in the habit of paying $10 to $25 for your clothes you should try Merrimack Clothes. They are better for the price than any produced.

That's Why

the makers of Merrimack Clothes are the largest high grade producers of clothes in the world.

That's Why

We have such confidence in our merchandise---we know we are offering you the best for the money obtainable.

Our customers come and come again because our merchandise must satisfy. Our talk today is directed to the man who has never tried our clothing. We hear constantly:---"I'm sorry I didn't try here first. I've looked all over the city for this without success."

Try us---No quibbling on the "money-back-if-not-satisfied" policy.
